North, Grigsby, Prather and 4 grade schools may close

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

A bleak financial outlook may force the closing of Granite City High School, North, Grigsby Junior High School, Prather Junior High School and up to four elementary schools.

The Board of Education heard a cost report from its administrative staff Saturday morning in front of a gathering of 101 persons, including many school employees and numerous North High parents.

Cutbacks could total $4 million to $6 million, Supt. B. J. Davis estimated, and layoffs may exceed 100 persons. Average class size is likely to be increased to about 30 students.

The changes that gain final board approval are to be made effective at the end of the present school year in June 1983.

A public meeting to hear comments and suggestions will take place in the first half of January.

The board plans to act on a final list of selected cost reductions at a meeting in the last half of January, setting the stage for reshaping of the 1983-84 program and staff during the following weeks. Dismissal notices may be sent out in late March.

Many school employees say they already see "the handwriting on the wall" and are beginning to plan for other employment, a task made unusually difficult by the economic recession that also has been a factor in limiting school revenue.

The 100-plus dismissals or reductions would apply to a staff that currently totals 843 (572 teachers, 85 custodians, 59 cafeteria employees, 54 secretaries, 35 administrators, 18 construction and maintenance trades employees, 10 teaching assistants, seven non-certificated administrators and supervisors and three campus monitors).

A cost analysis read in full by Supt. Davis did not say which schools might be closed.

But building capacity figures revealed that if only one high school and one junior high school are operated, only South High (for ninth through 12th graders) and Coolidge Junior High (for seventh and eighth graders) would be large enough to accommodate all the secondary students.

The superintendent told the board and audience that the school budget (Continued on Page 3)

Faculty alarmed

Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 said Friday it is alarmed by news articles "which have indicated that cutbacks for the 1983-84 school year could reach five to seven million dollars."

"Cuts even close to that size, approaching 25 percent of the total budget, would completely destroy the quality in this district's programs."

"The teachers of the district are not blind to the facts, but we feel the district is overreacting to the situation. The district's first goal should be to

12 possible cuts

Twelve Granite City school district cutbacks are currently under consideration. They are:

1. Consolidation of the two high schools into one, for an estimated saving of $1,300,000.

2. Consolidation of junior high schools—three into two schools, $400,000 saving, or three into one, $800,000.

3. Consolidation of elementary schools, closing one for a saving of $185,000; two, $370,000; three, $555,000; or four schools, $740,000 saving.

4. Adjustments of elementary programs for a saving of $1,350,000, including deletions of all elementary physical education, $396,300 saving, all (Continued on Page 10)

Tax loan limits

There are limits on how much a school system can borrow against its future taxes, Supt. B. J. Davis warned Saturday in presenting possible budget reductions affecting the 1983-84 school year.

He began by giving the background of the cost study conducted this fall. "At a special board meeting Sept. 14, the board adopted a motion to set a deadline of the first meeting in December for the administration to bring to the board a list of options for the board to consider"—listing the most reductions possible (while maintaining quality education), at a minimum eliminating second-year tax warrants. $663,491 allocated to 16 local United Way agencies for 1983

Directors of the Tri-Cities Area United Way last week approved allocations totaling $663,491 for 1983 use by local area service agencies. The annual campaign is a successful annual campaign this fall.

Currently funded agencies, programs and operations are to receive $663,491. Broadening the scope of services provided through United Way member agencies, the board admitted the 16th TCAUW agency, the UWA Center for Women, Inc. It was allocated $6,430 for the 1983 calendar year.

The $663,491 figure includes: Alcohol Rehabilitation Community Home, $25,000; Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross, $70,843; Central Illinois Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, $3,900; Cahokia Mound Council of the Boy Scouts of America, $67,000; Quad-Cities Catholic Charities, $74,067.

Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois, $25,000; Co-Ordinated Youth Services, $81,342; Family Counseling Center, $15,000; River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, $37,510; Madison County Urban League, $27,250.

Protestant Welfare Association, $18,000; Salvation Army, $41,500; Tri-Cities Area Association for Retarded, $13,822. Visiting Nurse Association of St. Clair County, $25,000; and Tri-City Area YMCA $82,789, with $7,000 deferred until July 1, 1983, for direct staff expansion of youth character-building programs at that time.

Continued funding was approved for the Red Cross Chapter's one-to-four family "burn out program," through which disaster help is given here. National disaster assistance is extended when five or more families are affected.

Direct financial assistance allocations were made to Protestant Welfare Association, the Salvation Army and the United Way Community Services health and welfare assistance programs.

Food pantries located at Protestant Welfare and the Salvation Army are to be supplied by the National Food Crisis Network.

In addition to the $663,491 grand total of allocations, the United Way board authorized funding for independent audits of UW agencies in 1983; TCAUW administrative, campaign, budget and allocation, long-range priority and planning costs; staff training for the United Way and member agencies; capital improvement expenditures, and allowances for uncollectable pledges.

TCAUW President Bill H. Terrell complimented the many volunteers and General Campaign Chairman Roger A.

Higgins for "pulling together this year to achieve a difficult goal despite the economic conditions our community is facing."

Limit prosecution in $146,000 theft case

Collinsville lawyer Ben S. Urban, 41, will be ordered to pay $146,789 in restitution and could be sentenced to probation or up to three years in prison. He entered guilty pleas to four counts of felony theft in an appearance Thursday before Associate Judge John W. Day.

State's Attorney Don W. Weber, in exchange for the pleas in an "open" plea agreement, obtained dismissal of five other charges (four of felony theft and one of forgery).

Weber also agreed to forego prosecution on any of the other instances where (Continued on Page 2)

Traffic patterns still believed plaguing downtown Granite City

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

City government policies, numerous stop signs and traffic access limitations in the downtown area were cited as points of concern by area leaders when they were asked what improvements were needed for Granite City downtown resurgence.

The comments were invited last week by Alan Richardson, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce executive vice-president, during a monthly Granite City Rotary prayer breakfast gathering of Quad-City area business leaders and city and school officials. The discussion took place last week at Charlie's Restaurant.

Other concerns voiced regarding the central business district, or Granite City Centre, were the problem of absentee landlords, a need for financial backing for building renovations, and the disinterest of some owners.

But the discussion veered back again and again to traffic accessibility to the downtown area.

Stop signs blocking traffic routes were on the "hit list" of most speakers at the session, with many pinning the blame on lack of interest by municipal officials.

Chief of Police Ronald Veizer, however, said the number of stop signs in Granite City reflects the lobbying efforts of citizen groups, fearful of street injuries and fatalities, to slow traffic in their neighborhoods.

Several years ago the city received a master traffic control plan, devised by a man who since has become a top state traffic manager, Veizer said. "The people from the community hit the Council. They reversed it," he pointed out.

Sixth Ward Alderman Walter Milton agreed that residents' objections to the removal of particular stop signs prevent change. "Anytime you get ready to go, you get shot out of the saddle," Milton commented.

Drew Karandjeff, president of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, said he lives about a mile from his downtown bank, but must stop at six stop signs while driving to work.

Lobbying by a small group of people for the continuance of a certain stop sign actually affects the entire community, Karandjeff said.

Another speaker questioned the effectiveness of cleaning and beautifying the downtown area while traffic access and parking remain major problems.

"I don't know how many times we've gone through this," Carl E. Mathias, Madison County service area manager of Illinois Power Co., commented. "But I don't think the conclusions (are) much different. Traffic has been attacked any number of times."

Karandjeff quoted advice from a traffic engineer who said "over-control" of traffic ultimately creates contempt for all traffic laws.

Granite City has the reputation of being the "stop sign capital of the world," according to Carl Ranft, general manager of the Tri-City Regional Port District.

The manager resides in the 2600 block of Delmar Avenue and said he meets nine stop signs on his way to the Port from his home, a distance of about two and a half miles.

Numerous truck runs are now made between Granite City Steel and the Port area, underscoring the need for a truck route around the downtown area, Ranft said.

He said estimates show that it costs tractor-trailers 18 cents to stop at each traffic signal. "You've got to get some 'clean' routes" in order to expedite economic development and job growth, he asserted.

Others at the breakfast called for the clearing of straight routes to the downtown area from heavily populated Granite City areas.

Despite blame placed by some speakers on a lack of government cooperation, Alderman Milton told those present that they probably are getting the best cooperation from city officials, compared to that received in the past. He said the current relation-

End downtown area picketing

Picketing has ended at downtown jewelry stores, it was announced during the weekend.

Two stores in the central business district were singled out for picketing after union personnel alleged that staff members were not affiliated.

Terms of the occurrence eliminating the pickets were not announced.

Indicted again

James Barton, Madison County supervisor of assessments, indicted in November for alleged "middle man" involvement in a bribery attempt, was indicted again Thursday.

The new count by a grand jury alleges official misconduct in the same incident. State's Attorney Don W. Weber is continuing to urge that the County Board oust Barton.

A conviction on misconduct would force Barton to forfeit his appointive position, in which he has two years left on his third four-year term.

Weber alleges that Barton forwarded $500 from William Nichols, a Horseshoe Lake area land owner, to Walter "Shang" Greathouse, a Sanitary District official and Zoning Appeals Board member.

Barton says he is innocent of wrong-

6-year term for Hileman

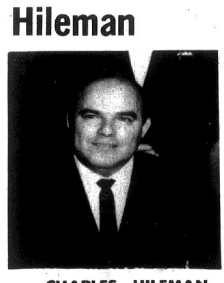

Charles Hileman, 55, former assistant fire chief of Granite City, was sentenced Friday to serve six years in prison for felony theft.

Indicted in April on 54 counts of theft, conspiracy and solicitation to commit prostitution, he was sentenced to six-year concurrent terms on 22 counts. The other 32 counts were dismissed.

The agreement devised by Assistant State's Attorney Keith Jensen and John Rekowski, defense attorney, calls for a $15,000 fine to be paid in $225 monthly installments, and $12,000 reimbursement to be paid by Hileman for room and board at the Madison County jail this year.

The defendant waived a pre-sentence investigation. Chief Associate Judge Edward Ferguson presided. Jewelry, fur, silver, electronic equip-

Urban illegally obtained truck drivers' bond money. And Weber will recommend no more than a three-year term. Day could order three years in prison, or a shorter term, or probation. For thefts of over $100 in past years, Illinois law authorizes terms of two to five years and fines of up to $10,000.

Weber told the judge Urban got $146,788 that had been posted by truckers with the circuit clerk's office for alleged violations of the truck weight law. Many of the arrests took place at the Interstate 55-70 truck weighing station near Collinsville. The prosecutor said Urban got the funds by claiming to be the drivers' attorney and presenting forged judicial dismissal orders to the clerk's office; the bond money then was turned over to the lawyer, even though he had no actual connection with the cases. Truckers routinely forfeit their bonds, which sometimes total several thousand dollars, rather than contest the arrests in court. They were unaware anyone had obtained the money they had posted.

Forgeries included not only court orders but check signatures. Where another person signed truckers' names, the person did not know of the criminal intent involved, Weber said. Urban obtained bond funds in 178 cases between 1978 and 1982, he verified in court. Indicted in July, he remains free on a $100,000 property bond.

Weber said he believes the attorney can provide most of the required restitution. He estimated that Urban's home is worth more than $100,000.

The state's attorney said Center Bank in St. Louis may have some legal responsibility for cashing the checks that had forged signatures. Urban said he will not know whether he can pay the restitution until he sees the terms of the judge's final order.

Kenneth Martin, 49, dies today

Kenneth D. Martin, 49, of 2824 Marshall Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died at 10:08 a.m. today, Dec. 20, 1982, at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. He had been ill for six months.

Mr. Martin worked for 22 years as a millwright through the Carpenter's Union, Local 688 of Granite City.

He was a member of the Assembly of God Community Heights Church and also held membership in Amvets Post 204 of Madison. He served in the Armed Forces during the Korean Conflict.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Jean Martin; one daughter, Mrs. Greg (Marilyn) Mathes; two sons, Dale and Mitch Martin; three brothers, Clouis, Roscoe and Milton Martin; two sisters, Mrs. Tracy (Muriel) Padgett and Mrs. David (Dorothy) Line, all of Granite City, and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. Call 876-4321 for further information.

Competing with uncle

The federal government, says the General Accounting Office, is engaged in 11,000 different commercial or industrial activities, costing $19 billion a year, competing directly with private firms in printing, data processing, food and laundry services, research and other fields.

Builders elect Docter, Peters

James D. Peters, vice-president of C. D. Peters construction Co. of Granite City, has been elected second vice-president of the Southern Illinois Builders Association.

Peters, 33, has been with the local firm for 11 years. He started full-time after his graduation from Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., where he received a bachelor of arts degree.

He has also served in the U.S. Army Reserves, being discharged as a captain.

In addition to his position with the SIBA, Peters served on the boards of the Southern Illinois Contractors Association and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Peters resides in Collinsville with his wife, Ann, and one-year-old son, Clayton.

The SIBA elected L. K. "Monty" Docter as the 24th and youngest president in the association's 37 year history. Docter, 32, is vice-president of MacIair Asphalt Co., located near Collinsville.

Also elected were Cyril "Pete" Korte of Korte &

Luitjohan Excavating Contractors, Inc., Highland, as first vice-president; Peters as second vice-president; and J. J. Altman of J. J. Altman & Co., East St. Louis, as secretary-treasurer.

Serving a one-year term on the SIBA board of directors are Ed Rust of The Rust Co., Inc., Belleville, and Bruce Holland of Bauer Bros. Construction Co., Inc., Belleville.

Elected to a two-year term on the board was Robert Miller of Hoeftken Bros., Inc., Belleville.

Directors elected to three-year terms were Sam Hutchinson of Interface Construction Co., Wood River; Robert Sless of The Tarrion Corporation, St. Louis, and Robert Mahoney of the Charles E. Mahoney Co., Belleville.

The Southern Illinois Builders Association is a chapter member of the Associated General Contractors of America. SIBA serves nearly 800 construction firms and related businesses in 39 counties of Southern Illinois.

Auto and truck collide, 2 hurt

A woman driver and a 13-month-old girl sustained injuries at 2:20 p.m. Thursday when her auto, headed east on 20th Street, and a Granite City Steel dump truck were involved in a collision.

Diana S. Pearman, 19, of 1929 Harris St., Madison, and Samantha Pearman, 13 months, the same address, were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where Mrs. Pearman was admitted. She was listed in fair condition Friday. The child was treated and released.

The 35-ton dump truck was operated by Luke E. Fowler of St. Louis. He said he was traveling south across 20th Street into the mill area and did not see the Pearman car. Mrs. Pearman reported being unable to stop her vehicle in time and it slid against the right front tire of the truck.

ITEMS GONE FROM RECOVERED AUTO

Pots and pans, bowls and lids and silverware, valued at $62, were missing from the recovered auto of Georgia Reiser, 2529 E. 27th St., she said at 7:40 p.m. Sunday.

She had reported the vehicle stolen from outside 2254 State St., about two hours earlier. The auto was located in the 2400 block of Grand Avenue.

Road lines life varies

How long does the center line on a highway last? It varies. For a high-volume highway in the East, such as the Long Island Expressway, the painted lines endure only three to four months. But thermoplastic lines should last up to three years.

Announce winners in Decorate Home contest

The James Strack residence, 3233 Newell Drive, has been selected as the first-place winner in the Press-Record's "Decorate Your Home for Christmas Contest." Judging of the nearly 30 entries began at 6 p.m. Sunday night.

Judges for the contest were Rosemarie Lindner, director of public relations for Hospice of Madison County; David Nolan, director of parks and recreation for the Granite City Park District; and William Sternberg, a Madison County deputy coroner, treasurer of the Emerson School PTA and an employee of Davis Funeral Home.

Second place was awarded to the Leonard Smith residence at 32 Moorland Drive in Mitchell. Third place went to David and Norine Noel for their home at 1811 Spruce St. in West Granite.

Prizes to be awarded are a $100 U. S. Savings Bond for first place, a $50 U. S. Savings Bond for second and a boneless ham for third place.

The decisions by the judges were based, in part, on originality, simplicity and homelike displays, as opposed to store-bought items. All three judges indicated that they thought music added much to visual displays.

The judges agreed that the following homes also deserve recognition for their efforts: the Lloyd Jones residence, 2639 Edison; the Edward Schroeder home, 1300 Twenty-seventh St.; the Ron Graywack residence, 1206 Alton Ave., Madison; the James Lipchik home, 2121 Garfield Ave., and the Michael Loftus residence, 2 Terrace Lane.

Epilepsy to be topic tomorrow

The next meeting of Parents for Special Education will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 21, at the rear of Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road. Sitter service will be available for those wishing to bring their children.

Brenda Fabik from the Southwestern Epilepsy Association will present two films, "First Aid for Seizures" and "How It Feels to be an Epileptic." The SWIEA is opening a seizure clinic in Madison County and she will have information about it.

There will be no PSE bowling on Dec. 25 or Jan. 1 because of the holidays. Thereafter bowling will begin at 2 p.m., with bus pick-ups at 1:30 p.m. at St. John's parking lot, 2901 Nameoki Road, and 1:45 p.m. at the Press-Record parking lot, 1815 Delmar Ave. Cost for three games is $1, including the shoes and ball. There is no age restriction.

The next dance at the Venice Recreation Hall will be on Jan. 14, and every second Friday thereafter.

The next skating party will be tonight from 6 to 8 at the Stardust Skating Rink. Skating is set for every third Monday of the month. There is no age restriction.

Basketball practice is held every Thursday for Madison and Venice boys 13 and over at Louis Baer School, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Couple announces daughter's birth

Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Orsborn, 2529 Center St., became the parents of their second child, a daughter, born Dec. 13 at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

The new arrival has been named Kristen Taryn. She weighed eight pounds, nine ounces and has a 9-year-old brother, Brian.

The mother will be remembered as the former Brenda Fox, daughter of Mrs. Dina Fox of Madison.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Orsborn of Granite City.

Mrs. Tishia Popovych of Madison and Mrs. Avis Kayser of Granite City are the infant's great-grandmothers.

HOLIDAY CHEER. Members of the Granite City Optimist Club plan to help needy families enjoy a happier holiday season by providing food baskets and gifts to eight local families who are in need and have children. The club allotted $1,000 for the service project and received the names of eight families from the Tri-Cities Area United Way. From the left are Optimists Eric Robertson, Dave Parrish, Elmer Wortham, Norman Hall, Martin Bartz and chairman Jim Seiz. They will purchase, wrap and tag gifts for all the children in the chosen families. The baskets and gifts will be delivered to the families Wednesday. Leo Konzen and Bill Sternberg also are working on the project.

Arrest after employee of Jack-In-the-Box is struck

An Edwardsville man was arrested at 4 a.m. Sunday after an altercation at the Jack-In-the-Box Restaurant, 3330 Nameoki Road, in which he allegedly struck an employee and damaged a vehicle.

Fred A. Pigg, 24, of Route 6, Edwardsville, was charged with battery and criminal damage to an automobile after police followed a vehicle in which he was a passenger and stopped it at Terrace Lane and Lindell Boulevard. Police were summoned by Willie Smith, an employee of the restaurant, who told officers that an automobile pulled up to the order window, but the occupants refused to place their order, even after being asked several times to do so. The vehicle then allegedly drove to the window and the occupants ordered and used obscene language to Smith, at which time he allegedly told them that their business was not wanted and asked them to leave.

The vehicle allegedly drove to the front of the store, Pigg got out and went to the window and when Smith opened the window, Pigg allegedly hit his chest with a fist and, at the same time, kicked a vehicle owned by Steve Johnston, 2440 Cleveland Blvd., which was stopped at the window. Police noted that the left door of Johnston's vehicle had a shoe scuff mark and a small dent.

Rescind order barring outside work for police

Madison city officials have rescinded an order posted two weeks ago that told city policemen they could no longer work at outside jobs, the Press-Record has learned.

Madison Police Unit 110, which represents the policemen, hired attorney H. Carl Runge of Collinsville, and threatened last week to file an injunction to seek a temporary restraining order, to keep the city from enforcing the order.

Several policemen have outside jobs in Madison, including Patrolman Thomas Voloski, who owns Voloski's Catering and is president of the Madison Concerned Citizens. The Concerned Citizens are challenging Madison officials on various levels and the order was issued after Voloski received copies of the city's financial statements.

The order, which rescinded former written permission for Voloski and others to hold outside jobs, was removed from the police bulletin board late last week. Madison officials could not be reached for comment.

FIRST HOLIDAY PARTY. The Down's Syndrome Association of Southwestern Illinois held its first annual Christmas party at Cottwood Hall in Glen Carbon. The children were guests at Santa Land, sponsored by the Edwardsville Jaycees. Lunch was enjoyed at McDonald's restaurant.

New search and seizure court ruling

By JUDY TAPLIN
Three Collinsville police officers lawfully entered the home of a man they believed was growing marijuana in his back yard, the Fifth District appellate court has ruled.

The appellate court, in an opinion filed Dec. 14, reversed a Madison County circuit court ruling which allowed the suppression of evidence seized during a search of the man's residence.

The key question involved was whether a person who did not live in the house had the authority to allow police to enter.

Madison County assistant state's attorney William "Chuck" Ivers says the ruling is significant because it is the first of its kind in Illinois.

The defendant's motion to suppress the marijuana plants taken from the back yard.

The circuit court order had said no consent to enter the residence had been given by the owner or anyone with actual authority.

In reversing the circuit court ruling, the appellate court noted several federal cases in which it was ruled that police could legally enter a residence if let in by a party other than the owner.

In U.S. vs. Turbyfill, the appellate judges noted, an unrelated person who had stayed in a residence several weeks had let officers inside.

Fewer traffic deaths in state

November traffic fatalities in Illinois decreased 20 percent from the same period of 1981.

Provisional figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation and Illinois state police show 107 persons died as a result of 96 accidents during November 1982, compared to 134 deaths in November 1981.

There were 197 deaths recorded in 1981 for the 11-month period, compared to 154 deaths in 1982, showing an overall decline of 10.6 percent.

In November, 25 pedestrians were killed in 25 accidents, three persons killed in three railroad crossing accidents, and one person killed in one accident involving a motorcycle.

In Madison County, traffic deaths numbered seven in November and total 44 for 11 months.

Knapp found marijuana by a chair, according to the testimony.

The defendants contended that Schaffer's brother was a visitor and lacked authority to give valid consent to police to enter the house.

The circuit court ordered suppression of evidence seized from the house but denied

The officers had then seen marijuana plants in a shoebox on a table. The Supreme Court had ruled that their entry was legal.

The Fifth District appellate court concluded that although Schaffer's brother was not "an occupant of indefinite duration" like the guest in the Turbyfill case, he was also not merely a casual visitor.

The judges said they believed Schaffer's brother "had sufficient relationship to the premises to allow others to enter and, hence, had authority to permit police to enter an area where a visitor would normally be received."

Party for visually impaired youngsters

The Parents Group for Visually Impaired Children has set aside its December meeting to host a Christmas party for their children today at the William Holliday Grade School in Fairview Heights.

There will be fun, food, gifts, games, music, a magician, a visit from "Leo the Lion," balloons from "Fantasy Gooses" and Santa.

Families visually impaired children may become affiliated with the group by calling Cheryl Sims Geaschel at 344-1721.

BURGLAR RANSACKS
Assorted jewelry items and watches and a .32 caliber Colt automatic weapon were among the items taken in a burglary at the home of Irene Nelson, 3103 Fehling Road, reported last week.

Gift ideas at post office

An excellent array of Christmas gifts are available at the Granite City Post Office Land of Lincoln Philatelic Center, 2350 Madison Avenue.

The center is stocked with numerous items for the beginning collector as well as the experienced philatelist. It is one of only 262 similar facilities located in post offices throughout the country.

The Philatelic Center is open from 12 to 5 p.m. each weekday, but is closed Thursday. The center is open Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

$2,635 burglary at GC residence

A total of $2,635 in loot was taken in a burglary at the home of Fred Greco, 2224 Dewey Ave., reported last week. Entry into the dwelling apparently was gained through a sliding glass window in the living room.

Among the items stolen were an Atari home computer valued at $180, a stereo receiver worth $650, a stereo cassette deck costing $375, plus 200 cassette tapes worth $1,200, three computer game tapes valued at $75, a man's $90 watch, and digital clock radios worth $65 and $30. The intruders also damaged a television set in removing the home computer.

'Y' REGISTERS FOR FUN DAY

Advanced registration is required for the first day of three planned holiday "Fun Days" at the YMCA, 2601 Edison Ave. The first activities and exercise day will be held Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The cost is $2 for all children ages seven to 12. Those interested may call the 'Y' at 876-7200.

THE BARREL REOPENS. The Barrel Restaurant and Lounge, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, reopens last week as a ribbon is cut by Mayor Paul Schuler, fourth from left. Others participating in the ceremony from left are: Alan Richardson, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce; Larayne Bonds, an employee; Nelson Hediger Sr., a co-owner; Mayor Schuler and Mr. and Mrs. Al Fowler, co-owners. The downtown restaurant will be open from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Thursday; 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday and from 11 a.m. to midnight on Sunday. Meeting rooms and banquet facilities also are available for groups of 20 to 250.

"allocates 87.7 percent of expenditures to staff salaries and fringe benefits, with the remaining 12.3 percent being used for fixed costs and miscellaneous expenditures."

"Fixed costs, including utilities and insurance, consume half the 12.3 percent and can only be significantly reduced if the district consolidates school facilities."

"The largest area of reductions presented for consideration involves reduction of personnel, since this is the area where the district expands the greatest amount of its financial resources."

"In the first year, the total amount listed for staff reduction will not equal gross benefits, since the district must pay for the cost of the reductions—unused earned absences, unemployment insurance and health-medical insurance benefits."

"The full effects of the reduction, therefore, will not be realized until 1984-85. Some of the costs of reduction can be offset by increasing the tax levies for school districts."

"On Tuesday, Dec. 21, the board also will consider levying a tax to help finance the maintenance of schools that currently serve special education students."

"The second largest saving, after reduction of personnel, involves consolidation of buildings and the fixed costs involved with such consolidations. This would include utilities, insurance and maintenance."

"The cost reduction areas presented for consideration involve extracurricular activities—athletics, band, speech, etc.—increased fees, reduction of expenditures for supplies and materials, data processing and changing the kindergarten schedule."

"Class sizes for next year are projected on an average of 30 pupils per class, with certain exceptions, such as special education and classes where safety or space restrictions require lower enrollment."

"As the number of schools is reduced, fixed charges as well as personnel costs would be reduced. This method of cost reduction would result in larger savings than would staff reduction alone."

"If consolidation is given to building consolidations, future use of buildings will need to be determined. Although the pupil population has been declining, the trend seems to be 'bottoming out' at the elementary level."

"Elementary schools begin to show an increase at the elementary level around 1985. This year's kindergarten is the largest since 1979."

"The secondary school pupil population (junior high school and high school) is projected to continue to decline into the 1990s."

"All projections are based on known data at this time—birthrates and present enrollments—and do not attempt to predict unknowns such as business and industrial growth."

"Such growth could greatly increase the pupil population through new families moving to the community for employment. There could be a continuing decline of the present economic situation which would cause families to move from the area."

"The closing of facilities and the dismissal of personnel are difficult decisions to make. Students and parents are committed to the staff, and the staff is committed to the students. Further reductions must be developed over the years."

"The board and its staff have spent years in developing this district. To take any part of it away is very agonizing. But if it is reached the point where further reductions must be made regardless of personal feelings."

"The superintendent acknowledged negative elements of the cost-cutting proposals. He said these undesirable aspects include reduction of some services, the loss of capable young faculty members."

"As the district attempts to contain and reduce costs, this will undoubtedly have an adverse effect on the operations of the district," he pointed out.

"The district has worked hard to maintain programs, to keep class sizes reasonable, and to give pupils as many opportunities as possible."

"But our district is not greatly overstuffed; it is underfinanced."

"Given a better economic climate, normal staff attrition would keep a fairly close correlation to the decline in pupil population."

"Because of the under-financing, steps are necessary to reduce our costs and these will be detrimental to the purpose of why schools exist—to educate the youth of our society to the best of our abilities."

"This district is committed to include cost reduction alternatives with as minimal a loss of quality as is possible."

"As staff is reduced, service to pupils will be less because there will be less staff to serve them."

"Everyone in the district already has assumed additional work and responsibility, and these changes for 1983-84 will require still more of that."

"The results of what this district and others must now do will not only be felt at this time, but for years to come."

"Good young staff will be dismissed and will not be available in the future to give the district the experienced staff needed to educate children."

"The average age of this district's teaching staff is 44.5 years."

"As these teachers grow older, where will the experienced staff come from to replace them? It is anticipated that most of the displaced staff members will go elsewhere or seek a different type of position and will be lost to education."

"While conceding that drastic cutbacks are likely to be made, Davis stressed that many actions were taken previously to try to head off such a situation."

"Cost control has been emphasized throughout the school system, he asserted."

"The district has followed a definite goal of cost containment as the revenue structure deteriorated," the superintendent continued.

"In 1975, the board had a three-phase plan developed and followed its general provisions in the effort to contain cost increases."

"Tracing the staff's size over ten consecutive school years, he said it had dropped from 1,121 employees in 1973-74 to 1,109, 1,079 in 1976-77, 1,060, 1,035, 954 in 1979-80, 944 in 1980-81, 871 in 1981-82 and 843 in 1982-83."

"The difference between 1,121 and 843 is 278 or 24.8 percent."

Supt. Davis related, "Four school facilities have been consolidated. Two of these were sold, and the remaining two have been leased to agencies using them for educational purposes."

"Self-insuring in health and medical, unemployment and workmen's compensation has been instituted in an attempt to hold down these fixed charges."

"Cafeteria operations have been revamped and the loss in this area has dropped from more than $600,000 per year to an estimated $300,000 this year."

"Capital outlay purchases, other than replacements, have been curtailed unless categorical funding from other sources were available."

"The superintendent noted that 'warehousing procedures have been revamped, inventories reduced, and orders filled on a need-now basis only.'"

"Transportation expenses have been reviewed for rerouting. Diesel buses have replaced gasoline-operated buses."

"Instructional fee costs have been increased to offset rising prices."

"Grant monies have been secured for in-service training, curriculum studies, textbooks, instructional equipment and energy conservation."

"Energy costs have been reduced through use of more efficient equipment."

"Course consolidations have taken place in our effort to maintain programs and reduce expenses. And various small savings have been achieved through operational changes."

"To fully realize what these various reduction steps have accomplished while still providing a full range of programs, one needs only to look at the school district's per-pupil expenditures in comparison with other unit districts in the state."

Granite City schools had per-student operating expenses of $1,738 in 1976-77, or $22 below the state average of $1,760, $1,929 the following year, $17 less than the Illinois average of $1,946; $2,127 in 1978-79, or $22 below the state figure of $2,149; $2,301 in 1979-80, or $17 less than the state average of $2,418; and $2,584 in 1980-81, or $24 below the Illinois per-pupil average of $2,608.

A factor in the 1979-80 average being held 117 below the statewide average was the closing of the McKinley, Washington and Stallings grade schools and the Logan elementary school annex.

The school year of 1981-82 cannot be compared statewide yet because the financial statements from some school districts are not yet available, the administrator said.

"Over the past five years, had the Granite City district spent at the state average, it would have expended $467,530 per year more than it actually spent for a total of $2,375.65 during this five-year period," Davis commented.

"We have not overspent. We have spent substantially less than the state average."

"Excellence in service and adherence to financial responsibility have existed in this district," he asserted.

"However, with the present economic climate in Illinois, these goals have become much more difficult to accomplish."

President Donald Stucke presided at the meeting, with all board members attending. There was no response by the public during the session, but there were numerous informal conversations with board members and administrators afterward.

A chart prepared by the administrator staff showed that even if the objective is set at 90 percent occupancy of the 18 existing schools in District Nine, there is excess capacity of 5,031.

The Nov. 30 enrollment was 8,597 and a state facilities inventory report estimates the local building's maximum capacity is 16,253.

Although South High and Coolidge would be crowded if they housed all the secondary students, these two adjoining schools situated west of the Nameoki Road-Madison Avenue intersection—have been utilized to that extent in past years, some members of the audience recalled. The second floor of Coolidge is not in use at present.

However, the possibility of crowded schools and limited extracurricular programs is not expected to be popular with the public, and members of some school employee groups are unhappy with the prospect.

More than a few citizens are questioning the wisdom of building so many schools in the first place. But administrators say their past projections—confirmed by Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission estimates at the time—justified the rapid expansion of classrooms and facilities in the 1960s and 1970s, "boom" decades here.

Supt. Davis and board members stressed that the proposals being considered are subject to change and could be reduced or expanded in number before being voted on by the board.

As additional study occurs in the coming weeks, the planning is to be "fine-tuned" and the school officials will remain receptive to ideas from employees and citizens, the gathering was told.

A 2½-minute executive session preceded the 30-minute public meeting Saturday morning, held at the board of education's offices.

Cost-cut proposals mentioned by What Adlai's basing recount bid on

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois citizens ought to get a real education in the election process if the Supreme Court orders a recount in the gubernatorial race.

Downstater are familiar with the alleged irregularities in Democratic Chicago, but they know little about similar irregularities in the more Republican suburban and downstate counties.

Democrat Adlai Stevenson intends to prove in court that those irregularities ought to result in his ultimate triumph over Republican Gov. James Thompson.

"We have sufficient evidence of irregularities, not in a venal sense, but in a sense that the law has not been abided by, to warrant a recount at the very least, a thorough statewide recount," says Larry Hansen, a Stevenson aide.

Hansen, who formerly worked on Stevenson's Senate staff, is on loan from Walter Mondale's presidential campaign to help coordinate Stevenson's recount.

Hansen summarized the downstate findings — from the Stevenson point of view — as massive problems with unsigned voter applications, uninitiated ballots, unregistered voters, absentee ballots, etc.

"People say that's picky or trivial," Hansen said. "But the members of the General Assembly don't agonize over election law the way they do without a purpose. We can be grateful the law is there."

Asked about the more publicized problems in Chicago which favored Stevenson, Hansen replied: "That should be factored in, too. That only confirms the need for a recount."

Here's a summary of the Stevenson findings in downstate Illinois:

1. Hundreds of unsigned applications for ballots. When a citizen goes to the polls on election day, he or she must sign an affidavit stating he is a resident of the precinct. If that signature is not on file, the court should order a proportionate reduction in the totals for that precinct, Hansen says. For example, if Thompson carried the precinct by 60 percent to 40 percent over Stevenson, and there are 10 unsigned applications, then Thompson would lose six votes and Stevenson four — a net gain of two votes for the challenger.

2. Thousands of unini-tial ballots. When a voter has completed the punch card, it is handed to an election judge who initials the ballot and puts it in the box. The legal presumption, Hansen says, is that the ballot may have been slipped in without being initiated. He insists the lack of initials calls for another proportionate reduction. Problems reportedly existed in several suburban counties on the initialing because judges allegedly initiated above a perforation, and thus left no mark on the ballot.

3. Thousands more have identifying marks. The ballots might have numbers or some other inscription which is not permitted.

"The law is much fuzzier in this area," Hansen says, "but some ballots will be thrown out. If someone pays someone else to vote a certain way, they can put a check or some other mark on a ballot to make sure they voted the correct way." In Henry County, for example, numbers were reportedly placed on ballot envelopes, and this could be negated because it violates the sacredness of the ballot — they were no longer secret.

4. Individuals who voted who are not registered. By comparing the voter applications to the binders and special affidavits, dozens of irregularities have been discovered — supposedly 15 in one DuPage County precinct alone.

5. Absentee ballots. A person who requests an absentee ballot must provide the reason for the request — out of town, work, illness, etc. Hansen claims the failure to state the reason invalidates the ballot.

He cites the returns in one Kankakee County precinct to illustrate the problems with absentee ballots. The precinct carried 2 to 1 for Stevenson, but the absentee ballots (which were paper ballots, not punch cards) won 60 votes for Thompson to three votes for Stevenson.

Hansen suggested that someone, a precinct worker or a zealot, established a chain operation. One voter obtained an absentee ballot. Instead of voting that ballot, he returned it to the person in charge of the operation. The person in charge marked it and gave it to a second person who requested an absentee ballot. He, in turn, voted the first person's ballot, and brought out his ballot for marking by the person in charge. Someone might have lined up 50 or 60 people in such an operation. "That's the closest thing to fraudulent behavior we have seen," Hansen said.

6. People not voting in precincts where they reside. Boundary lines sometimes are changed or people have moved, and the election judges allow them to cast ballots in the precinct anyway.

7. Security problems. Ballot boxes are not sealed when brought to the election authority.

8. Computer problems. The discovery recount showed Stevenson picked up 101 votes in Madison County alone, Hansen said. Similar irregularities occur in every election, of course, but seldom are the ballots scrutinized as they have been in this case.

Stevenson's request for a statewide recount is the first such request in the history of the state.

The evidence he and his staff discovered suggests his request is not frivolous. The question is whether the courts will order to franchise those votes where irregularities were discovered, and whether the irregularities warrant a reversal in the outcome of the election.

Lame ducks to get new budget shot?

By RAY SERRATI

SPRINGFIELD — There is a chance that the members of the 82nd General Assembly might be asked to take still another shot at the state's fiscal problems before going completely out of business next month.

The lame-duck Legislature gave Gov. James R. Thompson approval of some proposals that the governor said were desperately needed now to help him keep the current fiscal year's budget in balance.

The state's financial woes blew across Illinois like a bone-chilling winter wind just before Thanksgiving. So with this grim surrounding, Thompson asked the Legislature to give him some unprecedented powers to make further cuts in appropriations for the current budget.

The lawmakers also gave him the power to accelerate the collection of state utility taxes. But the lawmakers balked at a proposal that could hike the state's liquor tax.

But even as the lawmakers were looking with favor at the first two proposals, Thompson and his staff were still in the wings saying if the economy continued downward, additional steps would have to be taken when the Legislature returns on Jan. 10 for its final meeting.

The 83rd General Assembly will get under way on Jan. 12. Many of the lame-duck lawmakers may not be overly responsive to any further proposals to change the budget in two days. They may just want to leave the entire matter to the new Legislature. Besides, winging it in a lame duck session isn't always the smartest way to get re-elected, especially for those who lost in close races and are awaiting the day to another shot to return to the hallowed halls.

But even with Thompson saying more work might be needed on the state's current fiscal picture, he has not officially outlined what can or cannot be done to get everything in balance.

Some state agencies have been busy trying to trim operating costs. Just how deep those cuts are facing might not really surface until after the first of the year. By waiting for a new calendar year the agencies will have to deal with six months of the current fiscal year, which ends on June 30.

The state Board of Education has already taken action at trying to balance the public education section of the budget. But their action may not please Thompson. They want to dip into the teacher retirement fund to help balance the budget. Thompson indicated he might not be very pleased with that action.

But on the other hand, if Thompson and his budget writers are serious in saying the state's economy is as bleak as they now picture it, they may have to settle for the old saw "what you see is what you get."

On top of all the current fiscal problems, the Bureau of the Budget along with other Thompson staffers must fashion some type of a budget for the next fiscal year. This must be ready for the General Assembly the first part of March.

The BOB staff, headed by Dr. Robert Mandeville, has been working with every segment of government from public schools on up trying to reach some type of a happy medium for the new budget. But everyone knows that what Thompson reads to the Legislature in March as it is assembled by "Dr. Bob" and his staff is usually ripped to shreds by the end of May.

The economy and the lawmakers next year are certainly bound to wreck the budget. But if past years are any examples ever, Thompson and Dr. Bob may want to make changes. Some legislative appropriation committee staffers have begun to affectionately call Mandeville "Dr. Bob, the fiction writer."

If the downturn of the Illinois economy continues nearly everyone agrees more Band-Aids may be needed for the current budget. This could be done in January, Mandeville and his staff have not been overly optimistic about a possible fast upturn, at least in the first part of 1983.

Local governments, including public schools, which depend on some state financing may be in for more belt tightening.

Terrell praised the executive committee and the 36-member board of directors for "the unselfish time and effort they put forth."

He noted "many hours of research and deliberation by the entire board, and the campaign committee's diligent work in preparing for and carrying out the over-the-top fall 1982 United Way campaign."

ship is good between economic developers and city officials.

Milton viewed the number of downtown absentee landlords as an "overlooked" problem, and suggested that perhaps a campaign could be launched to spur local investment in that area. "People who have the biggest control live outside our area," he said.

Lack of downtown parking spaces also was felt to be a continuing concern for some of those at the session.

One suggestion was to convert the fledgling 19th Street and Delmar Avenue city park to a parking lot. Another suggestion was made to clear all businesses from one side of 19th Street to leave the other side for use as a parking lot.

Both Richardson and Karandjeff said the complexity of the downtown area itself must also change to attract traffic flow.

Both envisioned a new downtown with a mix of professional offices and retail businesses, plus a heavy emphasis on business offices.

Supreme Court voids $75,000 judgment to GC Steel worker

The Illinois Supreme Court has overturned a $75,000 judgment against the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. and his injuries under the Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA), a law under which railroad workers are protected. The Third Judicial Circuit Court of Madison and Bond counties granted Schutzenhofer a summary judgment under FELA, rejecting arguments that the company's rail system does not engage in interstate commerce, a requirement of FELA.

In its appeal, Granite City Steel argued that Schutzenhofer did not qualify for compensation under FELA, but should have sued under the Illinois Worker's Compensation Act. In a split decision, the Illinois Supreme Court ruled that the lower court summary judgment was in error because it did not include proper avenues of relief for Schutzenhofer.

Humphrey, client services specialist, and will include: "a review of the district's board minutes of the past few years; drafting and typing of policies and revisions; an SMFI consultant meeting with the superintendent and board to gather information and discuss policy drafts; a review of district handbooks; a review of the district's contractual agreements; and codifying appropriate district materials for inclusion in new policy drafts."

Madison schools to have policy manual

By NANCY WEIL

Development of a policy manual for the Madison School District will be started after the first of the year by the School Management Foundation of Illinois, the school board learned at its meeting Thursday.

The SMFI confirmed the district's order for the policy manual and forwarded a contract to the board.

Services involved in the policy manual development were outlined in a letter from Suzanne W. Humphrey, client services specialist, and will include: "a review of the district's board minutes of the past few years; drafting and typing of policies and revisions; an SMFI consultant meeting with the superintendent and board to gather information and discuss policy drafts; a review of district handbooks; a review of the district's contractual agreements; and codifying appropriate district materials for inclusion in new policy drafts."

The SMFI is a division of the Illinois Association of School Boards. Located in Springfield, it provides a variety of services for developing school policies.

The board also received word from Dolores Folkerts, curriculum director, that a grant of $1,372 had been awarded to the district to "work with career information."

The grant is from the Tenco-Sirsa Educational Improvement Center, which awards grants based on the particular needs of school districts within a 10-county region and includes both public and non-public schools.

A career planning handbook will be developed for eighth grade students at the Middle School and St.

Mary's School and work will be done to develop a student handbook for the high school level. Mrs. Folkerts said.

In conjunction with the handbook, students will take a Career Vocational Interest Inventory test and will receive computer printouts rating each participant's top six interest areas. The printout will include information on the student's personality traits, additional details on each interest area, and job listings.

After the students have received the information, they can again turn to the computer for information about requirements, environments, pay scales and contacts for various jobs.

"The neat thing about this is that it's not just for four-year (college) programs or a Ph.D. but for two-year programs or just high school," Mrs. Folkerts said.

The printouts can be used as a guideline to determine what classes and activities a student should participate in to gain knowledge and experience in a particular career category. "If you want to be a mechanic you will know what classes to take in high school and what activities are suggested," she explained.

Some students show little interest in high school and instead "just wait and say, 'When I get out, then I'll really do something,'" she continued.

At the last board meeting, Mrs. Folkerts announced that the district had been awarded two grants to be used for improvement and publicity of the vocational department. "We hope this grant will dovetail with the other two grants we got," she said Thursday.

The board also received a report from Assistant Superintendent Wade James outlining a proposal for pur-and setting a maximum debt elimination timetable.

"Our report today lists considerations for the board to review. There are numerous options and combinations of options that can be taken," Davis told the Board of Education and its audience on Saturday.

"Those presented may or may not be those eventually selected. Different viewpoints undoubtedly will be expressed, depending on how different segments of the community view a particular reduction or retention of a program or facility.

"There probably is no one 'right way.' Certainly, there is no way that everyone will believe is right. There is a need, however, to bring revenue and expenses closer into line with each other.

"It is presently expected that the district will need to borrow $7.7 million in this year's education fund. This is a cumulative debt.

"Since 1977, the district has accumulated a debt of $3.5 million. This debt was repaid from this year's tax collections.

"In effect, this means that $3.6 million is not available to meet this year's expenses. It is also expected that the district will need to borrow $4.1 million to meet current obligations in addition to the $3.6 million loan payoff, thus requiring total borrowing of $7.7 million.

"We can borrow only 85 percent against any one year's tax revenues. It will be necessary to borrow the entire 85 percent of next year's taxes, plus an estimated $1.7 million against the 1984 tax collections.

"By law, a school district cannot borrow beyond 85 percent of its second year's tax collections.

"It also is expected that the school district will need to borrow $578,000 in the building fund to meet our needs this year—$217,000 from last year and a projected $361,000 this year.

"With the needed repairs that will have to be done, this deficit will be difficult if not impossible to reduce without additional revenue.

"Had the district been successful in passing the 1980 building fund tax referendum, the building fund would be self-supporting.

"Community Unit District Nine operated from 1961 to 1977 without borrowing money for operations.

"This was due to financial planning, the willingness of the public to increase the tax rates, and a favorable state aid formula coupled with a growing pupil population.

"As the pupil population growth trend reversed itself, state revenues eventually began to decline. Unfortunately, the loss of revenue surpassed efforts to contain costs.

"As an example, a school district loses revenue with the loss of each pupil. But it takes the loss of many students before staff can be reduced. And fixed charges do not decline unless facilities are consolidated.

"Many adverse financial conditions have worked against the Granite City district during this same period of time.

"Mandated programs have not been fully funded. The corporate replacement tax monies will not be as much as expected.

"The state withheld one complete state aid payment this past June. Inflation has increased costs, and economic conditions in the community also have led to our present dilemma," the superintendent said.

Christmas eve at St. Peters

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2101 Cleveland Blvd., will celebrate Christmas eve with a candlelight worship service at 7:30 p.m. The service will feature scripture readings, carols, anthems, and a meditation on "The Ageless Christmas Message."

The church's Chancel Choir and members of the Bell Choir will offer special music. Instrumental soloists include: Floyd Watson, trumpet; Pam Embick, flute; Carolyn Butts, recorder; Robert Braundmeier and George Grove Jr., bells. Vocal soloists include: Deborah Milton, Elizabeth Holly, and Tom Collins.

Scripture readers for the service are Jerry Iolanidis and Estella Monken. The Acolytes are Kyle Braundmeier, James Eric Brown, Bill Korman, and Tim Mason. Music for the service is under the direction of Karen S. Brown, church organist and choir director. The pastor of the church is the Rev. James Robert Brown.

The public is invited to participate in this special Christmas eve service, Rev. Brown added.

provide quality education. Cuts even half the size of those suggested would make quality impossible.

"The financial situation developed over several years and cannot be solved overnight. It will take efforts over the next few years to solve the problems; doing too much too quickly can only cause harm.

"Teachers feel that the problem is also exaggerated; expenditures will probably be $1.5 million less than budgeted by the board for 1982-83.

Revenues may be slightly higher." The Federation statement issued by President Shirley Stoll continued, "At the Dec. 7 meeting of the Board of Education, the tax levy was increased to provide funds for the expenses incurred when teachers are dismissed and when buildings have to be structurally altered to house special education children transferred from closed buildings.

"Why raise taxes to dismantle a school system?

"We suggest a public discussion of a working cash fund bond, funding bonds, tax anticipation notes and other types of creative financing available to pay for maintaining educational quality."

"This is our district, too. We take pride in its accomplishments. We will cooperate in efforts to find solutions to financial problems, but we will not help to tear apart an exemplary educational system," the Local 743 comment concluded.

ment and other articles valued at approximately $1 million retail were obtained from Hileman's home, some from behind a false wall, during court-approved searches.

Owners who have identified possessions seized at the residence in January 1982 are expected to be able to claim them in early 1983, perhaps February.

Hileman forfeited claim to any of the seized items that do not belong to his wife or daughter, including articles whose ownership was never determined by police. Those items may go to the city of East Alton, whose police traced goods from a burglary there.

The new terms are to run concurrently with a six-year sentence by Ferguson on probation violation, related to sale of metals. He received probation in a 1977 theft case.

DAMAGES FENCE AT SALVATION ARMY
 Capt. Donald Salisbury of the Salvation Army Community Center, 3007 E. 23rd St., reported at 8 a.m. Sunday that someone drove a vehicle into the chain link fence on the southwest side of the building. Salisbury said the fence had been placed there to keep people out of the area.

Fresh tire marks were noted by authorities and damage was estimated at $200.

Probe murder of St. Louisan

Identified as Jessie James Mankey, 30, St. Louis, the murder victim found here early Thursday is the subject of an investigation by Granite City and St. Louis police.

He had been at a St. Louis tavern before being found with a gunshot wound to the back of the head in the parking lot of a tavern at 20th Street and Edwardsville Road. Location of the shooting is unknown.

He apparently had not been in the local tavern, but is believed to have been wounded only a short time before being found.

A drawing of his face was released to newspapers and television stations, and his wife, Jo Ann, saw it on TV. She then came here and identified him Saturday night.

Other information is given in an obituary notice elsewhere in today's issue.

Stabbing victim in fair condition

Mark A. Balter, 25, of 2125 Dawn Place, was in fair condition this morning at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after suffering a stab wound to the chest Sunday at 9:20 a.m. at his home.

Witnesses told Madison County authorities that there was a party the night before at Balter's home and several people remained there overnight. Witnesses were awakened by the sound of Balter arguing with a woman in the hallway and alleged that when they went to check on him he was in the bathtub, partially dressed, and was covered with blood.

One witness alleged hearing Balter say, "she stabbed me," before the victim was found. Attempts were made to assist Balter and an ambulance was called.

Authorities said they were unable to find the weapon inside the home or in neighboring yards. Police met with emergency personnel who said that Balter apparently had been stabbed once in the chest with a sharp object and that surgery would probably be required to determine the extent of the injury. It is believed the woman entered the home through an open living room window. A suspect is being held on a possible aggravated battery charge, but charges have not yet been filed, authorities said.

TOOLS ARE TAKEN

Linda Wiesehan, 1644 Venice Ave., reported at 1:40 p.m. Saturday that her garage and been entered and several items removed. Taken were a tool box with assorted tools inside, a multi-meter, a gauge, an electric staple gun, a machinist's drill index, a portable radio, two 25-foot extension cords, a drill and a hydraulic jack.

elementary vocal music instruction $151,000, all elementary band programs $45,300, all elementary learning centers $196,300, assigning one principal to each two grade schools, saving of $13,700, attaining a class size average of 30 students, $538,000, and all elementary nurses, $90,600.

(It is being noted that such figures would be accurate if all 13 grade schools operate in 1983-84. If nine, ten, 11 or 12 elementary schools are open, the savings in the preceding paragraph would be proportionately less, when combined with the $185,000-per-school savings.)

out how business operators and those working in the downtown area view their surroundings. The questionnaire also was intended to gather suggestions and to test what level of involvement the Centre could expect from downtowners.

The preliminary findings were taken from 40 questionnaires, composed of 18 questions. One of the surprising, but encouraging, results was that 82 percent of those surveyed said they would participate in a low-interest loan program to renovate their buildings, according to Richardson.

Other survey answers: Besides general appearance and the way buildings are maintained, how do downtowners rank problems facing their area, in order of priority?

Vacant buildings, image, lack of parking facilities, street and sidewalk conditions, lack of specialty shops, parking meters, lack of employment, differing operating hours of downtown businesses, traffic flow, street lighting, crime and zoning.

What type of businesses should downtown developers try to attract to the downtown area, according to priority?

Specialty stores, professional offices, entertainment and restaurant businesses, and business services.

What specific businesses are needed in greater number downtown?

Men's clothing shops, general merchandise stores, children's clothing shops, restaurants (fast food preferred), professional offices and hardware stores.

How should the city government spend community development funds for the downtown area, according to priority?

Low-interest loans for renovation, parking facilities, improved sidewalks, street improvements, housing, and improvement of the 19th Street and Delmar Avenue park.

What can city government do to improve the downtown area?

Improve streets and sidewalks, increase its involvement in the downtown area, promote the downtown area to outside businesses and industry, provide incentives to do business in the downtown area, and enforce building codes.

What can city businesses do to improve the downtown area?

Business owners and operators should keep their premises clean and attractive, businesses should have uniform business hours, they should provide quality merchandise, and store employees should be more courteous to shoppers.

What can local financial institutions do to improve the downtown area?

Provide low-interest loans for

6. Reduction or elimination of all extracurricular activities, a range of $56,000 to $300,000 in yearly savings, depending on which extracurricular programs are deleted.

7. Limiting of all office and student-related supplies and materials to $25 per pupil per building. Based on the projected 1983-84 fiscal year of about 9,500, this would save $250,000.

8. Alternate day, full-day kindergarten schedule (Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Tuesday and Thursday each two weeks), instead of a half-day class every day, $26,000.

9. Reduction in data processing services by an estimated $75,000.

10. Adjustment of student fees to increase school income. Each dollar increase would generate about $9,500. If the total fee would be $20, this would produce an additional $195,000 in revenue compared to 1982-83.

11. Reduction of the central staff, including administrators, supervisors, coordinators, maintenance and secretarial personnel. This saving has not been estimated and the extent of such cutbacks would depend on other reductions and the resulting need for district-wide supervision.

12. Staff reductions. The grand total of reductions in the school district staff as of this summer is estimated at in excess of 100 employees (teachers, administrators, custodians, secretaries, etc.).

What can local labor unions do to improve the downtown area?

Donate the time of unemployed members to downtown beautification efforts, shop locally, and locate offices downtown.

Should a professional be hired to oversee the day-to-day operations of the downtown development efforts? Forty-three percent said yes.

Should a uniform policy for the appearance of downtown businesses be adopted?

Eighty-four percent agreed this should be done.

Should a sign ordinance, regulating sizes and types of signs for businesses, be adopted? Seventy-five percent said yes.

Finally, what should the downtown development corporation consider as its top priorities, in order of importance? Beautify the downtown environment, promote downtown, enhance retailing, create employment in the downtown area, improve vehicle access to downtown and enhance circulation of traffic within the downtown area.

St. Bartholomew yule services

The traditional Christmas eve candlelight eucharist will be held at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue, beginning at 11 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 24.

The Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, rector of the parish, will be the celebrant and preacher at the service, assisted by Steven Gaumer, Steven Blatz and John K. Mefford. Mrs. Rogers Mefford will preside at the organ.

The service will feature traditional Christmas hymns and carols along with special music prepared by Mrs. Mefford.

On Christmas day, the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 10:45 a.m. with special Christmas music and a sermon by Fr. Lear. No service will be held on Sunday, Dec. 26, in either Granite City or Glen Carbon.

On the evening of Dec. 26 the children of St. Thomas Church School will present a special Christmas Pageant at 7 p.m. in St. Thomas Church, School and Summit Sts., in Glen Carbon.

A Christmas eucharist will also be celebrated in the Glen Carbon church, on Christmas Day, at 9 a.m. Christmas communions will be taken by the sick and shut-ins at any time after Christmas, by special appointment, Rev. Lear noted.

EMT party for seniors tonight

Emergency Medical Technicians from the Granite City Ambulance Service and personnel from the Fire Department will sponsor a Christmas dinner-dance for senior citizens of Granite City beginning at 6 tonight in the Township Hall, 2290 Delmar Ave.

All citizens 55 years of age and older are being invited to attend. A chicken dinner will be served promptly at 6 p.m.

Entertainment will include Christmas carols, a performance by the Southern Express Swing Choir of Granite City High School South and dancing.

Seniors without transportation may call 877-8884 before 4:30 p.m. today to arrange mini-bus pickup service.

Ambulance crews and other fire department personnel also will be distributing Christmas baskets to needy families in Granite City this week. Art Asadorian, project chairman, said.

POLICE FOLLOW MAN, FOUR CHARGES FILED
Leonard A. Lelenewski, 22, of 2921 Warren Ave., was arrested at 7:30 p.m. Friday after being followed by Madison and Granite City police.

He was first seen by Madison police at Parrish Street and McCasland Avenue as his car allegedly violated a stop sign. Police followed the vehicle at 21st Street and the coke plant lights after radioing for assistance to Granite City police.

He allegedly went through the red light at Nameoki and Edwardsville roads. He was stopped on Maryville Road near Route 162.

Lelenewski was charged by Madison police with passing a stop sign, speeding and driving while under the influence (DWI). Intoxicated liquor and charges by Granite City police with passing a red light.

Mayor looking to U.S. for unemployment relief

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler thinks the federal government must now make the first move to break the cycle of decreasing factory production and high unemployment in this area.

The mayor made his remarks in a Press-Record interview last week after returning from a three-day conference on economic development and unemployment, sponsored by the U. S. Conference of Mayors and its Initiative for Progress.

Public works job programs could serve the dual purpose of repairing deteriorating cities and putting area people back to work, the mayor said.

He pointed to a $5.4 billion jobs legislative package — including $1 billion for public service jobs — as the direction which he thinks has lately become a necessity.

"It's the only direction we can look," the mayor said.

The jobs bill was sent to the Senate for approval, after passing the House of Representatives 204 to 200. There have been indications, however, that President Ronald Reagan, would veto such a jobs bill if Senate approval is received.

The bill contains provisions for $1 billion in temporary public-service jobs for areas with nine percent or higher unemployment, including Granite City.

Other uses for the remaining $4.4 billion would include construction projects, small business loans, upgrading of rail and water facilities, and varied job-training programs.

The jobs bills should not be confused with the proposed $5.5 billion gasoline tax bill, not intended primarily as an employment measure, and which might or might not mean local jobs in highway and bridge repair work. That proposal hit a snag in the Senate late last week and may be postponed until the 1983 legislative session.

There isn't any doubt about it," Mayor Schuler said, but that a federal jobs program would certainly "flow down" to benefit this area. Unemployment in Granite City — about 19.1 percent in October — would undoubtedly qualify this community, the mayor added.

The mayor feels that federal funding for jobs and government projects could send Granite City's unemployed population to work on city "trouble spots" that are being neglected due to fund shortages.

"We've got three or four sewer breaks," Schuler said. He also spoke of crumbling streets in some areas.

"I would be glad to see the public works bill pass," he emphasized.

Despite the predicted presidential block, congressional pressure might still push through some type of jobs bill, according to Schuler. "The (Reagan) honeymoon is really over," the mayor said. "Just because the President wants it (defeated) doesn't mean it is going to be."

The mayor does predict the Reagan-backed gasoline tax bill will be passed by Congress. He said probably one of the next steps the city will be taking to alleviate unemployment here will be to put together applications for some of those expected interstate transportation project funds. "Everybody will be going to Washington, Granite City included," Mayor Schuler said, if the gasoline tax is approved.

"Help from the government is really going to prime the pump... to get the economy back on the track." The city is receiving numerous inquiries from businesses interested in

Glik's to open in West Port

Glik's Department Stores, based here, have signed a lease and will open their first store outside Illinois.

West Port Plaza, in St. Louis County, will be the site of the new store, which will open in early February. Glik's signed an eight-year lease, acquired in the recent Libson bankruptcy proceedings.

The store, to be called Glik's LTD, will feature teens' and ladies' fashions and will be similar to the store opened Nov. 26 at St. Clair Square in Fairview Heights.

Vice President Bob Glik said, "We are excited to be expanding, especially in a time when the economy is tight. We see a lot of opportunity."

The West Port store will have 3,200 square feet.

locating here, the mayor said, but those businesses are waiting first for an upturn in the economy. "It's going to take those (government) dollars going into the economy," he said. "It will instill confidence in the economy."

Other topics at the Houston conference, attended by about 80 mayors and business and non-profit agency representatives, were the role of lending institutions, job-retraining programs and government and business cooperation in economic development and employment.

Job retraining programs would be of particular significance in Granite City due to a shift in directions of its biggest employer, the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel, that firm is now placing less emphasis on production quantity, he said.

Such a change will have an effect on the local job market, the mayor remarked, adding that extensive retraining will be needed in this region in order to keep abreast of new technology.

Granite City is looking toward the federal government to fund retraining programs, although funds for such programs also are being reduced, the mayor said.

Seiz is district scout chairman

Dr. James R. Buck, president of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that Jim Seiz has been elected to serve as the Uniwah District chairman.

The Uniwah District serves Granite City, Madison, Venice, Ponton Beach and Mitchell.

There are more than 1,050 young people participating in the Tiger Cub, Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer programs.

Seiz is a member of the executive board, a member and past president of the Granite City Optimist Club, and secretary-treasurer of State Loan & Savings Association.

The Uniwah District committee will hold a reception in honor of Seiz on Thursday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the board room of G. H. Sternberg & Co., 1609 Delmar Ave., Granite City.

All scouts are being encouraged to attend the reception, Dr. Buck said.

Christmas events for Venice youth

In celebration of the holiday season, several special activities are planned this week for Venice youngsters and teens, including distribution of gifts, visits with Santa, a Christmas musical program and a dance.

Between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 22, the City of Venice will provide Christmas gifts of candy and fruit for children in the community at the Venice City Garage, 1228 Klein St. Each child must present a ticket in exchange for the gift candy and tickets are available from all Venice aidmen, who are distributing them throughout their wards.

Any child who has not received a ticket is invited to contact the aidmen in his or her own neighborhood.

The People's Organization to Benefit the Children of Venice will sponsor a free Christmas Eve "Breakfast With Santa" program for children at 9 a.m. Friday, Dec. 24, at the Venice

Santa will be the honored guest and will have his photograph taken with the youngsters, followed by the distribution of treats, according to the Rev. John Henry Williams, organization president.

Between 300 and 400 are expected to attend the second annual event, it was learned. Further information may be obtained by calling Earl Hogan at 451-9014.

The Venice Park Recreation Department has arranged "An Evening with Santa" program from 5 until 7 on Christmas Eve night (Friday).

Christmas caroling by young people and refreshments are planned, Charles Collins, recreation director, said. All Venice residents are invited to attend the special program, he reported.

A Christmas Night dance is scheduled Saturday, Dec. 25, also under the auspices of the Venice Park District at the recreation center from 7 p.m. until midnight.

The dance is open to children and young people ages 10 to 18 years. A DJ will spin records for dancing and a $2 per person admission fee, which includes refreshments, will be charged, Collins advised.

Armed robbers get $197 from GC man

"This is a stickup. Don't try to be dumb. Just move around to the side of the building and you won't get hurt," one of two armed robbers told William Owens of the 4900 block of Redwood Lane at 10:10 p.m. Thursday.

Owens was standing waiting for a taxi outside the Granite City Game Room, 2420 Nameoki Road, when two men wearing ski masks approached him from the rear of the building, each displaying a weapon.

After walking around the Game Room building, the same robber stated, "All we want is your money." Owens gave the man $197 from his pocket and was told, "Just don't try to follow us."

The pair fled across Nameoki Road, running between the 300 and 400 blocks of Kirkpatrick Homes. A search of the area proved unsuccessful.

Owens said he had changed a $20 bill upon going into the games facility and had played a machine a few times before deciding to leave. He then called for a taxi and went outside to wait.

The spokesman for the robbers was armed with a snubnose blue steel revolver and had a high pitched voice. He was five feet, 10 inches tall and weighed about 180 pounds.

He wore a dark, multicolored ski mask covering the entire face, with the nose and eyes outlined in red. He had a medium blue coat, trimmed in blue corduroy, and blue jeans.

The second robber, who did not speak, held a small automatic pistol. He was about five feet, seven inches tall, stockily built. He wore a ski mask similar to the first man, a dark blue checked CPO-style shirt, and blue jeans.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS REMOVED FROM HOME

Burglars stole Christmas presents from the home of William Rutledge, 2502 E. 27th St., between 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Friday. Entry was gained by punching the lock on sliding doors and it is believed the burglars exited the same way.

The master bedroom was ransacked and items were taken from the closet, but the remainder of the house was undisturbed. Taken was $614 worth of items, including assorted ladies' and children's clothing, one paint set, one Atari video game, one 12-gauge pump shotgun and $200 in currency.

Four other guns were in the closet, but were not disturbed, authorities noted.

Not too late to stop smoking

Q: I am 38 and have smoked for an average of a package of cigarettes a day for the last 20 years. If I quit now, where do I stand as an ex-smoker? In other words, after all of these years, is it worth it to quit? — R.C., Mt. Vernon, Ohio

A: The more one smokes and the longer one smokes cigarettes, the more damage is done to the heart and lungs. However, the changes that occur are not necessarily cumulative or irreversible.

The risk of developing heart disease drops off dramatically when smoking is stopped. Some experts believe there is a dramatic reduction of risk within the first 48 hours of stopping.

The risk of an ex-smoker who has not smoked in five years is approximately the same as that of a non-smoker.

The risk of developing lung cancer also declines dramatically, however, the time it takes to reduce the risk is somewhat longer. After approximately 10 to 15 years, the risk of developing lung cancer in the ex-smoker is approximately the same as that of the non-smoker.

For chronic obstructive lung disease, the reversibility is somewhat dependent on the nature and the extent of the damage that has occurred. The excess mucous production and cough will almost always improve on stopping smoking and will in a large number of cases disappear completely.

The inflammatory changes in the breathing tubes that make breathing more difficult will also usually reverse, either partially or completely, toward normal.

If the disease has progressed to the point where there is substantial loss of lung structure (i.e., emphysema), then that part of the disease is not reversible. However, even in severe emphysema, substantial symptomatic improvement can be obtained by reversing the inflammatory and irritative changes that are produced by continuing cigarette smoking.

At age 38, it is reasonable to assume that the damage due to cigarettes has not progressed far enough to produce crippling or irreversible disease, and therefore, there is a high likelihood that by stopping now you could avoid any of the adverse health consequences of cigarette smoking. — Dr. David Burns, assistant professor of medicine, at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Q: What exactly is keratosis, and is there any way to prevent or moderate the condition? — T.N., Columbus, Ohio

A: A keratosis starts as a small, raised, almost scale-like spot with a yellowish, brownish or gray appearance. The most common cause of a keratosis is sun exposure. This is called an "actinic" keratosis. Actinic in Greek means sun.

The best way to prevent or moderate the development of actinic keratoses is to avoid excessive sun exposure. This is especially true if you are a light-skinned, red-haired individual who sunburns easily. If you do go out in the sun it is important to wear a good protective sunscreen. Look for sunscreens that have a sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or higher. This means you can stay out in the sun 15 times longer before getting sunburned on your skin. Not only will the sunscreens help prevent sunburn, they also appear to help prevent the development of keratoses as well as skin cancer.

There are other forms of keratoses on the skin. The most common other type is seborrheic keratosis. These can occur in both sun and non-sun exposed areas of the body. These develop as one gets older and the tendency to get these may be inherited.

Both actinic keratoses and seborrheic keratoses can be removed by simple surgical procedures, or they may be frozen with liquid nitrogen. Keratoses that occur in sun-damaged skin should be examined by a dermatologist, since a percentage of these may develop into skin cancer after many years. — Dr. Joseph A. Walters, assistant professor of medicine, division of dermatology, at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Ostrich's heart strong
An ostrich is 7 to 9 feet tall, weighs about 300 pounds and has an amazingly efficient heart that permits it to run at 30 mph for an hour at a time without showing distress and to race along at 40 mph for 15 minutes.

Martin Luther King Jr. observance at university

Samuel D. Proctor, the Martin Luther King Memorial Chair professor at Rutgers University's Graduate School of Education, will be the keynote speaker Friday, Jan. 14, at a Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Day observance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

SAMUEL PROCTOR

Professor Proctor has served as president of Virginia Union University and North Carolina A & T State University and he has held administrative positions with the Peace Corps, the National Council of Churches, the Office of Economic Opportunity, the Institute for Services to Education and the University of Wisconsin.

He is one of five nationally prominent speakers scheduled to participate in the observance commemorating the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the civil rights leader who was assassinated on April 4, 1968.

Others on the program at SIUE include:

Alton Hornsby Jr., professor of history of Morehouse College in Atlanta.

Harvard Sitkoff, associate professor of history at the University in New Orleans.

And William D. Watley, associate general secretary of The Consultation on Church Union, Princeton, N.J.

Participants from the university will include President Earl Lazerson; Shirley Carlson, assistant professor in the department of historical studies; Johnetta Haley, acting director of the East St. Louis Center; Luther Stripling, associate professor of music; and the Rev. Larry Melmon, a campus minister. Also on the program will be the Rev. Obba Rush, pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church, East St. Louis.

The observance will begin with presentations by Professors Hornsby, Sitkoff and Reddick in a session scheduled from 9:45 a.m. to noon in the Redbud-Oak Rooms of the University Center.

University classes will be dismissed for the afternoon program, from 2 until 3:30 p.m. in the Communications Building theater. In addition to the keynote and other speakers, musical selections will be presented by the SIUE Gospel Choir and Prof. Stripling.

The observance is sponsored by the Office of the President, the Student Programming Board, and the Central Affirmative Office.

Q. Although I agree one should not cosign a loan, I recently did cosign an auto loan for my son... a pretty good risk. However, since he does not itemize deductions on his income tax return, and I do, is it possible for me to deduct the interest paid on the loan?

A. You would not, under normal circumstances, be able to claim a deduction for interest on a loan which you have cosigned. The only way you could do so is if your son defaulted on the note, and you took over the payments. We're glad you agree with our advice about cosigning a loan. Although there may be a number of instances wherein a person may be asked to cosign a loan, the best advice bears repeating: Use utmost caution. Consent to cosign notes only for a person you know extremely well, and only if you believe that person is an exceptionally good risk. Always remember cosigning a loan is not just a good faith endorsement on your part; if the maker defaults, you, the cosigner, will be fully liable for repayment of the note.

TWO DRIVERS HURT
The drivers of two pickup trucks suffered minor injuries last week when a vehicle driven by Edward A. Glass, 16, of 4945 Old Alton Road, traveling north on Nameoki Road, and a truck leaving the Farm Fresh store parking area at 2928 Nameoki Road, operated by Betty J. Skinner, 29, of 2938 Myrtle Ave., collided.

Gasoline price down

Prices for most grades of gasoline went down slightly since November, according to an AAA-Auto Club of Missouri survey of 55 stations along main highways in Missouri and nearby Illinois and Kansas.

The survey also shows that it pays to shop around for fuel. High and low prices still show a wide fluctuation. For example, regular fuel at full-service stations varied from $1.12 to $1.45 per gallon. Self-service regular varied from $1.04 to $1.35 per gallon.

Motivists traveling long distances on Christmas Day may want to keep an eye on their fuel tanks and not let them get below half full before looking for an open station. The survey showed only about 25 percent of the stations contacted will be open that day. But 38 percent of the stations surveyed will be open on New Year's Day this year.

Armadillo comeback

Scientists say armadillos migrated from South America into what is now the United States, but all migrants vanished 5,000 to 10,000 years ago. Now survivors from Mexico are making one of the most remarkable comebacks in mammalian history and are spreading eastward from Texas to Florida.

FINISHES ADVANCED COMBAT INSTRUCTION

Pvt. Barry A. Reynolds, son of Kenton E. and Wanda J. Reynolds of 1515 Second St., Madison, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. The 12-week period combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapon infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman. The soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Granite City. Reynolds is a 1980 graduate of Madison High School.

Annual party at Anchorage

The Anchorage Senior Citizens Club hosted more than 100 members and guests at its annual Christmas party.

City officials and guests attending the holiday dinner were Mayor Paul Schuler, Housing Authority Director David Morgan, Alderman and Mrs. Everett Morien, Alderman and Mrs. Casmer Skubish, and Superintendent of Streets Mae Warfield.

Mrs. Lampe opened the dinner meeting and the Rev. Leroy Elby gave prayer.

Special guests for the occasion were those 90 years and older. They were Ada Knapp, Norma Stallings, Mary Nosaki, Jenny Zensar and Mary Bagl.

Louise Orr crafted all the crocheted baskets that were given as favors. In addition to the baskets, decorations featured placemats made from poinsettia wrapping paper.

Entertainment featured the "Rhythm Pipers." After the entertainment, Mrs. Lampe asked all to stay until gifts were opened from Thomas Memorial and Mercer mortuaries. Mabel Williams also handcrafted gifts.

The presidents announced that the film "Death Trap" will be shown at the Anchorage Center at 2 p.m. Dec. 29.

Other guests introduced by President Augusta Lampe were Mr. and Mrs. Randall Irwin, Helen Thiele and Glenda Mitchell, daughter-in-law of Vivian Mitchell, who is treasurer of the organization and was unable to attend due to illness.

Yule dinner of Garden Study Club

The Garden Study Club of Granite City held its December meeting and annual Christmas dinner at the home of Mrs. Lucille Broyles. Her home was decorated in a holiday theme and seasonal foods were served.

Everyone wore or brought a home-made Christmas corsage or tree ornament. The meeting started with all members saying the conservation pledge and collect in union.

Roll call was taken, with each member telling of a potted plant suitable for a holiday gift.

Treasury report was given by Mrs. C. E. Eads. A collection was taken from the members for the Salvation Army Tree of Lights.

The program was by Mrs. Mary B. Stomum on pot gardening. Christmas-covered notebooks and pencils were made and given by Mrs. Clara Winter. Basket favors were by Mrs. Lucille Broyles.

Christmas cards and personalized pens were presented by Mrs. Mary E. Stomum.

Other members present were Mrs. Norma Crenshaw, Mrs. Margaret Huessman, Mrs. Mary Margaret, Mrs. Catherine Kostoff and Mrs. Helen Mih.

Busy holiday activities at Hope church

Hope Lutheran Church, 3715 Wabash Ave., is announcing its holiday plans. The last of the mid-week Advent services was held Dec. 15.

The Lutheran Youth Fellowship and parents and friends will take part in a caroling party on the last day of school Wednesday, beginning at the church at 6 p.m.

The traditional Christmas Eve vespers and Sunday School children's service will begin Christmas Eve, Friday, at 7 p.m. The church will be decorated as the solemnities of the Feast of the Nativity begin. Treats will be distributed to all children.

A midnight candlelight Christmas communion will follow Friday at 11 p.m. The adult choir will perform Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" and the handbell choir will provide additional music.

Christmas Day communion will be at 9 a.m. Saturday. There will be a regular schedule of services at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, with Sunday school at 9 a.m.

The new year will be observed with a New Year's Eve candlelight communion service at 7 p.m. Dec. 31.

All four church choirs will participate in services during the December holidays: the church choir, the children's choir, the adult choir and the handbell choir.

Visitors are always welcome and Lutherans new to the local area who might be unfamiliar are being encouraged to attend, "to come back home" and renew their church membership, said Rev. David Fielding, pastor.

The major is returning from an assignment in the Philippines to take over the French program at the Air Force Academy. He has completed other overseas assignments in Morocco, Thailand, Spain and France.

He recently completed a month sabbatical in France, where he studied foreign language methodology and linguistics at the Institute of Touraine.

PEO Chapter KU exchanges yule gifts

Members of the PEO Chapter KU celebrated the holidays with a gift exchange.

Bette Rea, 3286 Kilmer Drive, hosted the party at her home. She prepared special refreshments for the occasion.

President Joanne Kraus presided over a business meeting. Ruth Ann Bartels then read "Where Love Lies" by Leo Tolstoy.

Others attending were Fay Carlisle, Jo Ann Burky, Bessie McNary Coolidge, Mary Dams, Hilda Davis, Marsha Delevski, Barbara Huston, Bonnie Loftus, Evelyn Maxwell, Jean Maxwell, Mary Mullen, Beth Spengler and Eunice Witt.

Christmas cards and personalized pens were presented by Mrs. Mary E. Stomum.

Other members present were Mrs. Norma Crenshaw, Mrs. Margaret Huessman, Mrs. Mary Margaret, Mrs. Catherine Kostoff and Mrs. Helen Mih.

Suggest early releases for Christmas services

Quad-City area churches are invited to submit programs to be featured during the Christmas season at respective churches to the Press-Record, 1815 Delmar Ave., as soon as possible for the religious pages.

Each article should include time of the event, date, sermon topic, minister's name, musical selections and other pertinent information.

Sisterhood yule party

The Sisterhood of Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church gathered at Ravanelli's Restaurant, last week, for a Christmas luncheon party.

Hand crocheted Santa's made by Elsie Byrd and homemade Santa cookies, baked by Mrs. Evelyn Thompson, provided the table decorations with other seasonal centerpieces.

Mrs. Connie Kelley offered the table blessing followed by Mrs. Kelley presenting Mrs. Thompson with a gift in appreciation of her year as president.

Entertainment for the day was a reading by Mary Davis and poems by Pauline Squires and Mrs. Kelley. Those observing birthdays were Mrs. Kelley, Penny Webb, Mayme Waggoner and Fern San Soucie.

The group sang Christmas carols and a special selection in memory of the late Mrs. Iva Nichols.

Others present were Millie Sherman, Emma Elmore, Alma and Opal Davis, Edna Fricke, Madona Shaw and Edna DuFrain.

Lesche holiday luncheon

Mrs. Ron Pennell was hostess for the Lesche Literary Club's annual Christmas party.

Eighteen members were entertained in the decorated home and were seated at festively appointed tables for a noon luncheon served by the program committee.

Mrs. Peg Stevens, Mrs. Virginia Johns, Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Bess Henley.

Handmade Christmas stockings were at each guest's place. Burdine Holtzschger gave the invocation.

After the luncheon Gerry Jackson gave the program, "The Fox at The Manger" by H. L. Travers.

Gifts were exchanged between members as each one read a definition from an Australian dictionary.

Everyone present brought a special gift for Anna George, a member who is at the Colonadades. They were collected in a large stocking and presented to her after the meeting.

Others present were Mrs. Mary Ann Cochran, President Ruth Ann Bartels, Nancy Cochran, Lois Holsinger, Marie Klein, Lois Lester, Geneva Miller, Catherine Schnipper, Connie Strotheide, Verna Stuart and Hannah Kleinschmidt.

HELPING HANDS. Jeff Kittel, center, organized and directed a canned food drive for the Eagle Scout service project with Boy Scout Troop 15. The drive spanned the entire local area and the troop collected nearly 400 pounds of canned goods to give to the Salvation Army for holiday food baskets. Assisting Kittel were Ken Beljanski, Patrick Boyer, Todd Carter, Donald Gray, Karl Markovich, Eric Markovich, Kerry Martin, Chuck Mateosian, Bobby Rains, Tim Szymeczek and Marc Varady. Troop 15 is sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 1126 and is led by Scoutmaster Karl Markovich Sr., assisted by Don Gray.

Prather holiday concert

The Mixed Chorus from present its annual Christmas Prather Junior High will concert on Tuesday evening, Dec. 21, at 7:30 in the school gym.

The vocal group is under the direction of Sterling Schoen.

The program includes: "Praise The Lord With Joyful Song," "He Is Born," "Follow," "One Tin Soldier," "Jingle Bells," "Pia A Star On A Twinkling Tree," "Winter Snowflakes," "Make Your Dreams Come True," "Deck The Halls," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," "Silver Bells" and "White Christmas."

A girls' vocal ensemble will sing several traditional songs.

The public is being invited to attend this Christmas concert.

The Gloria Choir of Lincoln Christian College, an auditioned 40 voice women's chorus, will present a concert at Pontoon Beach Church of Christ, 4039 Pontoon Road, Granite City, Ill. on Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 7 P.M.

The Gloria Choir, under the direction of Professor Thomas O. Myers, is engaged in the annual tour which this year involves eleven appearances in Illinois and Mississippi. Lincoln Christian College and Seminary is an institution of higher learning of the Christian Churches and Churches of Christ in the United States. This 38-year-old institution is located in Lincoln, Ill. at the center of the Prairie State.

The enrollment of the school is over 550. The college is concerned with the training and education of ministers and other workers for the church.

The Gloria Choir's program will be divided into two sections. The program will include a variety of types and styles of music and will be enhanced by lighting and dramatic effects.

The public is cordially invited to attend the concert.

Coping with Christmas depression

Willing Workers of America met at the YMCA to hear Phyllis Whitehead, social worker and supervisor of the Community Counseling Services Program for Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, Ill. Her presentation was on holiday depression.

She pointed out that people think they should be happy because it is the holiday season when in actuality they do not feel happy at all.

Those feelings which are in direct conflict with each other may cause stress, anxiety, unhappiness, or depression in a number of people she said, adding that "not only may people not feel happy, but the expectations they have for Christmas and the cost of having a 'good' Christmas could create high levels of anxiety, tension and resentment."

Expectations that may not be easily met are (1) memories of past Christmases, "the good old days," (2) the feeling that expensive gifts must be purchased, and in a certain quantity, (3) that family conflicts will go away, and (4) parents want to make up for bad Christmases in their own past.

The speaker gave several ideas on what may help a person to cope with stress, feelings of unhappiness and general depression around the holiday season:

"First of all, recognize what you are feeling and face it. Stop pretending to be happy if you are not."

"If there is little or no money, don't create more problems by spending money that normally would be used to pay bills, or by charging your purchases."

"Don't compare or compete with past Christmases. Think of this year's Christmas as different.

"Do something for someone else; volunteer your time to help others."

"Be flexible and creative in giving gifts by buying food baskets or giving service gifts. Shoveling snow or working on a relative's car for free are just samples."

"Exercise, get out of the house and put unused energy into becoming physically fit or just having fun. The YMCA laid-off workers' program is an example of using your time creatively and at low cost."

"Be a good receiver; accept from friends because that's what they are trying to be, friends."

The Willing Workers voiced appreciation for the assistance and support that local individuals and organizations have given them throughout 1982.

Included were Granite City Job Service, State Rep. Sam Wolf, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, 4th Ward Alderman Warren Decatur, Co-Ordinated Youth Services, YMCA, Economic Opportunity Commission, Mental Health Services, Educational Opportunity Center, Metropolitan Re-employment Project and Granite City Jaycees.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 15 at the Jaycee Hall, 1855 Poplar St.

10-DAY UNIVERSITY HOLIDAY VACATION Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be closed from Friday, Dec. 24, through Sunday, Jan. 2.

Regular building hours and normal operations will resume Monday morning, Jan. 3. Winter quarter classes will begin at 4:30 p.m. that day.

Home Extension yule celebration

The Trio Unit of the Homemakers Extension program held its Christmas party at Hope Lutheran Church. Tables were appointed in the Christmas tradition and a tree decorated the hall.

Hostesses Arlene Brinkmeyer, Rose Kayser, Lucille Sackett, Florence Rapp and Vivian Forshee served turkey dinner with all the trimmings to 33 members and four guests.

Vera Kirkpatrick, Eileen Watt, Ruben Snyder and 3-year-old Becky Gehlig.

Christmas carols were sung and games were played, prizes going to Becky Gehlig, Ruth Brave, Helen Robertson, Helen Pfeiffer, Roberta Fetter and Mrs. Kirkpatrick.

Food was collected to distribute to needy families. The members also exchanged gifts.

Mrs. Forshee gave a reading on "Ten Reasons Why I Believe in Christmas." The next meeting will be Jan. 4.

Senior citizen Christmas party

Donations were received from Gilk's Department Store, Ben Franklin Store, Reese Drug Store, Busy Bee Bakery and Golf and Dittman Florist. Mary Cromer presented the group with a gift from Lahey-Sedlack Funeral Home.

Prizes were presented to Katie Fedora, Joe Timko, Barbara Bilbrey and Josephine Goehff. Special gifts were presented to Josephine Cervinski (for measuring the blood pressure of members every Thursday), Mrs. Fredrick Green and Sam Dymas.

Christmas gifts were given to some of the members. Games were played and a dinner was catered by Voloski's.

It was announced that new officers will be installed Jan. 6, including: Genevieve McClure, president; Mary Domanek, vice president; Mary Gotzlam, secretary; and Fannie Rydgie, treasurer. Retiring officers are Frances Baker, president, and Stephen Kosick, vice president.

Cloverview yule party

The home of Mrs. George Knapp in Glen Carbon was the scene of the annual Christmas luncheon party of the Cloverview Garden Club of Granite City. Mrs. Eldon Melkamp served as chairperson of the festive event, held last week.

The dwelling was attractively decorated for the holiday season, with a huge Christmas tree in the living room serving as the focal point for the exchange of yuletide gifts by the members.

Mrs. John Lentz, president, introduced a new member, Mrs. Albert Taylor Sr., and special guests, Kenneth Brokaw, Charles Gandoria, John Jenkins and George Knapp, husband of the hostess.

Food was collected to distribute to needy families. The members also exchanged gifts.

Mrs. Forshee gave a reading on "Ten Reasons Why I Believe in Christmas." The next meeting will be Jan. 4.

SHRINERS COLLECT FOR SALVATION ARMY

Members of Ainal Temple Shrine were out in force ringing bells at nine locations during the weekend at 7 p.m. today at the school.

The families of all students at the school are invited to attend and take part in a tree trimming ceremony.

Families donating a tree ornament will be asked to sign their names at the door and then place the decoration on the tree, according to Principal Richard Brinkhoff.

A Christmas Carol singing also is planned for this evening. Those attending are asked to provide a blanket or rug on which to sit during the program.

Red and Green Day will be observed Wednesday, Dec. 22, at Johnson School, with students and faculty members being urged to wear clothing or other items in the two colors.

an article from the evidence book of beautification was read by Mrs. B. C. O'Neill. The latter also discussed her small garden plot, which was entered in a state award program.

"The Happy Gardener" was the title of a program presented by Mrs. Charles Gandoria, who described the beauty of the Christmas cactus. She reported that extra special attention afforded the plant now will result in its famous blossoms appearing in festive array about six weeks hence.

In addition to those mentioned, other members present were Mrs. John Jenkins, Mrs. Clarence Etheridge, Mrs. George Stearns and Mrs. Robert McCaulley.

Trojans roll over St. Anthony of Effingham 76-47

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

MADISON — It was the same old song with a new verse here Friday as the Trojans picked up their fourth win of the season, rolling over St. Anthony's of Effingham 76-47.

As was the case against Edwardsville, Pinckneyville, and Assumption, the three Trojan victims before, Madison simply outplayed the Bulldogs.

St. Anthony's coach Les Stevens summed his team's defeat in few words: "Madison was just much too quick for us," Stevens said. "We found ourselves out of the game early. We got sucked up in their game... That's something we wanted to avoid."

Friday's game, because it was one sided, lacked the excitement of the three previous Trojan victories.

The Bulldogs were the first to score at 7:19 in the first quarter, but the Trojans wasted little time in taking control. By the end of the first quarter, Madison held a comfortable 23-12 lead.

Madison's John Hughes, who was in and out of the lineup because he was battling the flu, moved the Trojans to within a point of outscoring the Bulldogs 2-1 as he scored on a looping 25-footer with one second left in the first quarter.

Madison's aggressive style of play carried right up to halftime when again the Trojans were within a point of doubling St. Anthony's efforts, 39-20.

So far in the young season, in each of the Trojans three previous victories, one athlete rose to the occasion.

Against Edwardsville it was Keith Wyatt. In the Pinckneyville game, Victor Valentine played well. Against Assumption, Leroy Pryor had the hot hand. Friday it was VonDee Bradley.

By halftime, Bradley had a mere six points. In the second half, however, he doubled his first half efforts to end the game with a game high 18 points.

"Bradley played some good basketball for us tonight," said Madison coach Larry Graham. "If he gets serious he could give some of the starters a run for their money. If I had to name the two who played best tonight it'd have to be Bradley and (Robert) Bishop. They both turned in exceptional performances," Graham said.

Bishop, who managed just four points during the course of the game, played a fine defensive game in the absence of ailing Hughes.

In the third quarter, Graham substituted heavily. Consequently, Madison's pace of nearly doubling St. Anthony's output began to wane. By the end of the third quarter the Trojans' scoring spree ended. They did, however, manage to increase the point differential from 17 to 24 to lead 56-32.

In the fourth quarter it was evident to even Stevens that the game was lost. He, too, began to substitute heavily.

In that fourth quarter, Madison improved upon its 24 point lead by five to finally win by 29, 76-47.

The Bulldogs are plagued with something this year that eventually every team has to deal with: inexperience.

"Ironically we've got eight seniors," Stevens said. "We've got some out with injuries, others ineligible because of grade problems... It's just been a difficult time for us."

"I know we need work. That's one reason why I like to play Madison."

They're tough. It's playing teams like them that will help us improve," Stevens said.

The loss drops the Bulldog record to 2-5. The Trojans are 4-1.

While the Trojans were savoring their victory in the locker room, Graham felt differently about the win. "It was one of those ragged ball games. It was no contest," he said. "They were out talented. We like to win, but not like this."

"It's a shame, Les has worked real hard. St. Anthony's has a great basketball tradition," Graham said.

The Trojans swept the junior varsity game, as well Friday night. The underclassmen won their game 54-44. Joe Crowder led the jayvee Trojans with 13 points. St. Anthony's Greg Grunth was game's high scorer with 14 points.

Final quarter shortcomings down South

GRANITE CITY — If high school basketball games were limited to just 16 minutes, Granite City South would be 1-6 now instead of 0-7. Edwardsville put together a strong final 16 minutes of basketball Friday night to defeat the Warriors 66-65 in a Gateway East Conference match up.

South, trailing by a single point at the end of the first quarter, led by a point at halftime 36-35. By the end of the third quarter, the Warriors slipped behind the Tigers 51-50. That was not too bad, South was still in the ball game. It was the fourth quarter that the Warriors would just as soon forget.

Edwardsville managed 15 points in the fourth quarter. That's not a statistic and certainly not insurmountable. After all, South poured in 24 points in the second quarter. However, a slower paced quarter, missed shots and opportunities enabled the Warriors just five fourth quarter points.

South lost by 11. "You look at the scoreboard and see we lost by 11, that's not a fair assessment of the whole game," Warrior coach Don Deterding said. "We were in the game all the way. We missed some shots, but we should have and would have hit earlier."

three previous quarters," Deterding said.

As a team, the Warriors have improved their shooting percentage. Friday they were 51 percent from the field. As far as attempts from the charity stripe, the Warriors shot 100 percent, three of three.

Edwardsville's Mark Bradford led the game with 26 points, but South's Brian Pithers and Pat Linhart were not far behind, with 21 and 18 points respectively.

"I was pleased with the kids' efforts," Deterding said. "They really wanted this one. They came out keyed up and played with intensity."

The Warriors are off until Monday, Dec. 27, when they take on Centralla in the first round of the Centralla Holiday Tournament. South plays in game seven at 8:30 p.m.

Althoff defeats Steeler cagers; North's now 0-6

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City North probably had its best weekend of the boys basketball season, but the Steelers are still winless.

After losing to Collinsville 73-36 Friday, North came back to Granite City Saturday to face Belleville Althoff, the tallest and deepest team in the Gateway East Conference.

"The height and depth of the Crusaders were simply too much for the Steelers. Althoff defeated North 79-57."

"They are a lot more talented than we are," North coach Bill Ohlendorf said. "Our kids played hard every minute of the game, and we reacted well to what they did. They've got 8-9 kids who can play the game and they kept up the tough defense and rebounding all through the game because of that."

North opened the game with a brief lead in the first two minutes of the game, but Althoff soon took control of the boards and the game. The Crusaders eventually had a 21-13 lead.

Althoff's momentum continued to increase throughout the game. North penetrated the Crusaders' 2-1-2 full court press and took a shot. The problem was that was all they usually had.

Immediately after the shot was taken, the Crusaders took position under the basket. Once that happened, North's only hope was that the ball went to it didn't, and North had to race down the court to catch the Crusaders.

By halftime, Althoff led 42-38.

Althoff continued their dominance of the game and held a 30-point lead at one point in the fourth quarter before North began to bounce back somewhat.

By the fourth quarter, North's starting five, which played most of the game, was starting to tire against the fresher Crusaders and starting throwing the ball away while running down the court.

That's precisely what Althoff coach Tim Moore had in mind.

"One of our philosophies is that you keep on the ball for 32 people. We have 7-9 people who can play well and we can keep it up and force other people into mistakes," Moore said.

Bill Meyer was the other reason Althoff was such a difficult team to defend against. Meyer, a 6-6 senior, scored 29 points to lead Althoff. Not only was Meyer hot inside, he also made the shots from 10 to 15 feet out which many big men couldn't hit.

"He's a good player. In fact, we have four players capable of scoring that many points. We don't just want one person who can do that," Moore said.

Meyer had a little help from his teammates. Ted Longest scored 14 points and Larry Gleason added 12 points for the Crusaders.

Moore and the Crusaders didn't take North lightly. "We know that Coach Ohlendorf will produce a scrappy team that won't give up. They did play with a lot of intensity tonight, and it was much more difficult than it looked like."

Moore pointed out that his team only had six turnovers for the game, a low figure for early in the season.

"Shoot, when you get eight or nine players that can do the job, you going to play with anyone," Ohlendorf said. "They shoot well and they speed up and down the court. Their kids were impressive and it's going to be hard to beat them."

On the other hand, North also played much better than it had in the early weeks of the season.

"We really played hard the last two days. We outplayed Collinsville in the first half Friday, and we could have had the lead if we hadn't made mistakes. It has been the best we've been offensively all year," Ohlendorf said.

Ohlendorf pointed out the efforts of Brian Levin in his first two games of the season. "For a kid who's come off knee surgery three weeks ago and didn't play at all last year, he really worked hard and he's in the starting line-up."

Although matters won't become any easier for the Steelers, Ohlendorf thinks the holiday season opening games will do North a lot of good.

"Our schedule has been a tough one so far everyone, with the exception of Edwardsville, has lost one game or no games. The pre-Christmas schedule has been tough, but I think it will help us get better," Ohlendorf said.

Sophomore Scott Cant led the Steelers with 19 points, and guard Art Williams had 12 points for the Steelers.

North, 0-6 overall and 0-2 in the GEC, will play in the Breese Mater Dei Christmas Tournament Dec. 27, 28.

Althoff is 4-1 overall and 1-0 in the GEC.

Steelers meet Mascoutah in Mater Dei tourney

A winless Granite City North basketball team is paired against seventh seeded Mascoutah in the first round action of the Mater Dei Holiday Tournament beginning Monday, Dec. 27.

The Steelers, now 0-6 with weekend losses to Collinsville and Althoff, are not seeded in the tournament. Only eight of the 16 teams were seeded.

Grabbing the top seed is Oakville. At the time of the seedings, the Rockets were 6-0. Oakville will meet Waterloo in the opening game at 9 a.m.

Springfield-Griffin, 3-1 at the time of the seedings, is seeded second. Springfield-Griffin will play Breese Central in game five at 4 p.m.

Nearby Triad is seeded third in the tourney behind Griffin. The Knights, at the time of the seedings, were 5-1. They will meet Chatham-Glenwood in game eight at 9:30 p.m.

Mississippi Valley Conference member O'Fallon slipped in at the fourth seed with a 4-1 record at the time of the pairings. The Panthers will meet Berkeley (St. Louis) in game three at 1 p.m.

The next three schools, Nashville, Mater Dei, and Mascoutah, all three had identical records of 2-2 at the time of the seedings. Tournament officials seeded the teams in that order: fifth, sixth and seventh.

Nashville will meet Warrensburg-Latham in game four at 2:30 p.m. Sixth seeded Mater Dei will meet unseeded St. Paul of Highland in game seven at 8 p.m.

Seventh seeded Mascoutah, as mentioned, will take on the Steelers at 10:30 a.m.

Assumption, 3-0 at the time of the seedings, but has since lost to neighboring Madison, slipped in at eighth, the final seed. The Pioneers will meet Roxana in game six at 6:30 p.m.

While the Steelers are battling Mascoutah in the Mater Dei Tourney, Granite City South and Madison will compete in the Centralla Holiday Tournament. Simultaneously, Venice and Metro-East Lutheran will travel to Columbia to compete in the Columbia-Freeburg Holiday Tournament, also beginning on next Monday.

Venice is seeded first in Freeburg tournament

The Venice Red Devils, now 5-0 in the season, have been seeded first in the Columbia-Freeburg Holiday Basketball Tournament by the coaches of those teams competing in the tournament.

That first seed pits the Red Devils against 16th seeded Chester High School in the fifth game of the tournament at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 27.

Seeded second behind Venice is New Athens. New Athens will face Duplo, seeded 15th, in the first round. That game is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Grabbing the third seed is Waterloo-

Gibault. Gibault will meet Freeburg Steelville in the opening game at 10 a.m.

Fourth seeded Freeburg will take on 13th seeded Lebanon in game seven at 7 p.m. Fifth seeded Red Bud will take on 12th seeded Gillespie in the second game of the tourney at 11:30 a.m.

Metro-East Lutheran, one of the newest schools in the area, is seeded sixth. The Knights will face 11th seeded Cardinal-Ritter in game eight at 8:30 p.m.

Civic Memorial of Bethalto is seeded seventh. The Eagles will take on 10th seeded Southwestern High at 1 p.m.

The most even match, according to the pairings, should come at 4 p.m. on Monday. Eighth seeded Marissa will take on ninth seeded Columbia.

The tournament will conclude Thursday Dec. 30, when with the consolation championship game at 2:30 p.m., the battle for fifth place at 4 p.m., the third place at 7 p.m., and the championship game is slated for 8:30 p.m.

Red Devil cagers out run Livingston; now 5-0

By MICHAEL BARTELS
of the Press-Record

VENICE — When the visiting Eagles of Livingston came into the Venice high school gym Friday night, not even the Livingston cheerleaders expected their team to do well. No one expected it to be a game, but it was.

Although the Red Devils are short on size, they are long on speed and quickness, demonstrating both long suits Friday using a full-court trapping press, a 1-4 state offense and good free throw shooting to down the challenging Eagles, 70-51.

The Red Devils came out of the gate fast, and it seemed early that the Venice quintet was in for an easy evening, but two Livingston players had a different idea.

Ed "Sonny" Gibson, the six-foot-five-inch junior pivotman, hit for four quick baskets in the first quarter, giving the visiting Eagles a four-point advantage at one point. Eddie Salmond hit a last second shot for the Red Devils, ending the quarter tied, 10-10.

In the first 53 seconds of the second quarter the Red Devils used a full court trapping press to force three quick turnovers, forcing Eagle coach Ron Hampton to call a quick time out.

The time out seemed to work, as the Eagles kept their poise in the second quarter and the big pivotman and hot shooting point guard, Larry Prost, kept the Eagles on top.

Salmonds kept the Red Devils alive, hitting for four field goals in the period, three of them off the press.

With only seconds remaining in the half, Larry Prost hit the first half of a one and one to give the Eagles the first half lead, 27-26.

The big problem was countering the effectiveness of the Livingston big man, Venice coach Ken Perkins said. "We tried all kinds of combinations in the first half," he said.

After Venice returned from the locker room, they became a different ball team, going back to the press, outscoring their opponents, 22-9 in the quarter, taking an 11 point lead into the final stanza.

As the fourth quarter began, the Eagles again refused to give in to the Red Devil attack, and with six minutes to go in the game, came to within four points.

With just over three minutes remaining in the game, the Livingston big man fouled out of the contest, putting a permanent end to the Eagle rally and their hopes of an upset.

That proved to be the last spurt the Eagles could muster as the Red Devils took over for good, sticking with the press and finally going to their 1-4 stall offense, giving the ball-handling duties to their guards, taking only high percentage shots.

The speed of Venice was too much for the Eagles and the Red Devils held on for the 19 point victory.

Hampton acknowledged the effectiveness of the Venice press and said they have had a problem all year against full court pressure. "We have had trouble with the press all year," he said. "They just stuck it to us."

Venice Red Devils

Of the combinations Perkins tried in the first half, the one that seemed to please him most was the play of sophomore center, Darren Wise. "He plays a lot smarter than a sophomore," Perkins said. "His defense on the big man was great."

After hitting for 14 first half points, the big man from Livingston only hit six points in the remainder of the contest, easing the pressure put on the Red Devils by the presence of the big man.

Eddie Salmond led the Red Devils, hitting 11 field goals enroute to 25 total points. Keith Marchbanks hit 14 points and Phillip White added 12.

For Livingston, the scoring was strictly a two-man affair with Prost and Gibson hitting for 20 points each, accounting for 40 of Livingston's 51 points.

The Red Devils remain undefeated on the season at 5-0 and the Eagles fall to 2-7 for the year.

In the junior varsity contest, there was little the Livingston team could do right as the Venice underclassmen took apart the Livingston frosh-soph, 83-29.

Five of the jayvee Red Devils hit double figures in the blow out, led by Victor Jackson with 13, Lonzie Helms with 12, and Craig Hamilton with 11. Larry McGhee and Wallace Dandridge hit for 10 each.

The Red Devils are in action next at the Columbia-Freeburg Holiday Tournament.

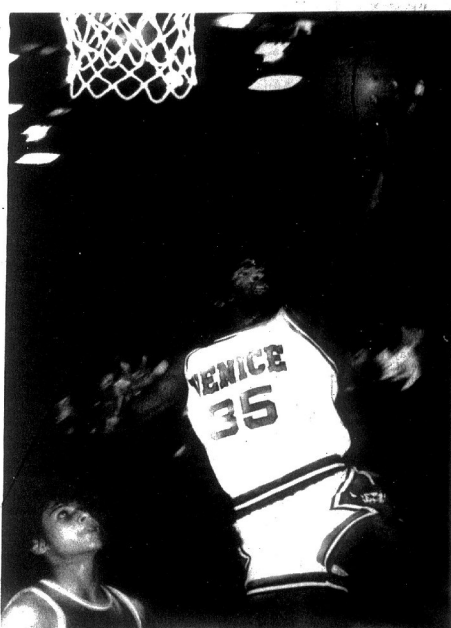

The shorter-than-average men of Venice don't seem to be the least bit bothered by their lack of size, even though it can sometimes create problems in a sport such as basketball. Like it says on the wall in Perkins' office, "Who cares if we're not very big."

We're quick and we're good and WE ARE THE DEVILS.

They are indeed.

Warrior cagers defeat Lady Shells

ROXANA — Gary Morgan, Granite City South's girls basketball coach, has a simple scoring philosophy: Get the ball to the closest player to the basket.

When the Warriors played Roxana Thursday in a non-conference game, the closest one to the basket was Trish Skinner. She responded with 27 points and led the Warriors to a 32-23 victory over the Shells.

"I would hope she would score a lot this year," Morgan said about the 5-10 senior. "Our scoring philosophy is to get it inside if we can or to get it to the closest person we can. I think we have the shooters this year who can make it from outside."

The Warriors, which improved their record to 1-1 with the victory, found it easy to pass the ball to Skinner often in the game. Skinner also took things in her own hands with her dominance of the boards.

South leaped to a 16-7 lead in the first quarter, but the Warriors lost their touch in the second quarter and held a 24-15 lead at halftime.

Ashley Gates, who had scored 11 points for the Shells in the first half, was taken out of the game for much of the second half. After that, things went downhill for the Shells.

Morgan substituted freely in the third quarter, and South gave the Shells only four points in the quarter.

The Warriors poured things on in the final quarter, outscoring Roxana 19-4. "Our rebounding had a lot to do with the reason why we dominated them, but for some reason Gates didn't play much and when she stopped playing, they stopped scoring," Morgan said.

Even with South's dominance of the game Morgan wasn't pleased with portions of the Warriors' attack.

"We had some good and bad things. We did run the offense well, but it wasn't one of our best free throw shooting games. We're capable of shooting free throws much better than we did," Morgan said.

For the record, the Warriors made only 4 of 11 free throws in the game.

Skinner was the only Warrior in double figures, and Gates led Roxana with 13 points.

"We would like to score around 60 points a game, but if we can score 50 or more points a game, you're going to be all right. It's nice to get a victory this early in the season," Morgan said.

South plays Bunker Hill tonight at home with the junior varsity game starting at 6:30 p.m. After that, South doesn't play again until Jan. 6 when it hosts Belleville East.

"Bunker Hill ought to be tough. They have a balanced line-up. They were tough last year, and they ought to be really tough this year," Morgan said.

In the junior varsity game, South smashed the Shells 58-8. That's right, 58-8.

South led 32-2 at halftime and 46-4 after three quarters in that game.

Dawn Ifland led South with 20 points.

Steeler grapplers defeat Decatur for 10th win

For Granite City North's wrestling squad to get its 10th win of the season before the Granite City South Holiday Tournament, the Steelers had to win all of their matches.

Saturday afternoon, the Steelers defeated visiting Stephen-Decatur 5-0 in Cahokia to do just that. It was North's 30th consecutive team win.

North lost just two of the 12 matches on their way to the state title over Stephen-Decatur. Last Thursday, Dec. 16, the Steelers rolled over both Bethalto (39-22) and O'Fallon (43-17) in O'Fallon for their eighth and ninth season wins.

Against Bethalto, the Steelers won seven of the 12 matches. Against O'Fallon, North was more successful, winning eight of 12 matches.

Saturday, against Stephen-Decatur, North's Gary Mann won for forfeit in the 96 pound weight class.

Thursday in the dual match against Bethalto and O'Fallon, Mann dropped both matches, the first to Bethalto's Dan Twente 5-1, and the second to O'Fallon's Robert Burige 6-4.

Wrestling in 105 pounds, North's Colin Davis, who is undefeated this year, pinned Stephen-Decatur's Darren Rhodes in 3:42.

Last Thursday, Davis pinned both Bethalto's Rich Mann and O'Fallon's Jason Shimabaker. It took Davis just 12 seconds to dispose of Mann and 3:42 to handle Shimabaker.

At 112 pounds, Greg Nemeth has experienced similar success this year.

He, too, is undefeated this year. Saturday Nemeth defeated Decatur's Dan Jones 9-0. Two days previously, he pinned Bethalto's John Cain in 4:31 and defeated O'Fallon's Jeff Holland 10-0.

North's Brent McKenney pinned SD's Scott Shalick in 2:47 in the 119 pound weight class. McKenney had similar success against O'Fallon's Tom Burige, pinning him in 5:06. However, Bethalto's Kris Kiptrick handed McKenney only his second loss of the season 15-2. Kristoff was a state champion last year.

Rod Unger, another undefeated North grappler this season, defeated Ed Roundtree, winning 7-0 in 126 pound class. Unger pinned Bethalto's Dallas Zimmerman 4:57 and O'Fallon's Curt Heitman in 3:05 Thursday.

At 132 pounds, North's Mark Whitaker has had a difficult time lately. Whitaker was pinned by Decatur's Scott Mitchell Saturday and lost a decision to Bethalto's Bruce Cain 19-4 and O'Fallon's Ross Hawk 22-8 Thursday.

North's Dan Whitsett lost a decision to SD's Rod Perry 8-2 in the 138 pound weight class Saturday, but won both matches Thursday. Against Bethalto, Whitsett won by forfeit, and later defeated O'Fallon's Dale Schuller 4-3.

At 145 pounds, North's Monte Kessler handily defeated Decatur's Ray Porte 20-4 Saturday, but lost two decisions Thursday. Kessler lost to Bethalto's Jeff Nichols 8-2 and O'Fallon's Mick Hunter 11-4.

Saturday, North's Steve Knogl, wrestling at 155 pounds, pinned Stephen-Decatur's George Huebner in 29 seconds. Thursday, Bruce Widel, wrestling at 155, pinned both Bethalto's Steve Ehlers and O'Fallon's Darren Crowell. Widel is the fourth undefeated Steeler wrestler this season.

North's Bill Zimmerman pinned SD's Brian Perry in 5:19 in the 167 pound weight class. Perry obviously upset with his defeat, was penalized a point for threecat.

Zimmer was also a double winner last Thursday as he defeated Bethalto's Duane Miller 8-0 and pinned O'Fallon's Duane Miller in 4:40.

North's John Morris is the fifth and final Steeler grappler who is undefeated through 10 matches this year. Saturday, against Stephen-Decatur, Morris won by forfeit but Thursday he pinned both Bethalto's Bob Davis and O'Fallon's Dale Saver. Morris handled Davis in 2:35 and Saver in 1:15.

In heavyweight competition, North's John Kramer was one and two in the last three matches. Saturday, Kramer won by a forfeit, but was pinned by Bethalto's Ralph Davis in 22 seconds and O'Fallon's Keith James in 3:14.

Steelers coach Walt Whitaker, obviously pleased with the success of his team said all of his wrestlers have "done an outstanding job" so far this season.

"The guys are giving us a 100 percent effort every match. And can't ask for any more than that," Whitaker said.

Don't spoil an old-fashioned Christmas with old-fashioned wiring

Before you put the lights on your tree this year, please check to make sure the cords are not frayed or cracked. Replace any strings that are questionable, because exposed wires could start a fire. And be sure your holiday lights don't overload your circuits.

Using a natural tree? Be sure to keep it well watered. Always remember to turn the tree lights off whenever you leave the house.

You can conserve energy by using low-wattage lights instead of floodlights outdoors.

Holiday Safety Suggestions

* Don't plug all your tree lights into the same outlet! Avoid long extension cords.

* Use timers to enjoy your lighting when you want it and to conserve energy, automatically, when the lighting isn't needed.

* Look for the UL (Underwriter's Laboratories) seal on every string of lights and other fixtures.

* Don't use flimsy, easily flammable decorations that could be ignited by contact with a lighted bulb.

* For outdoor lighting, string your lights from a grounded outlet. Be sure to use plastic film where extension cords join. And use cords and fixtures approved for outdoor use.

Best wishes for a safe holiday season.

Cougars hoopmen fall to Milliken University

By AL BARNES

For the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE —

It could have been worse, the 70-59 defeat at the hands of Milliken University by the basketball team of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville here at Edwardsville High gym Saturday night.

The loss for coach Tom Puggles's SIUE cagers dropped them to 5-8 for the season and ended their promising four-game winning streak.

Coach Joe Ramsey's Millikins Blues, however, upped their record to 5-2 and evened the series between the two schools to 2-2.

How could a 11-point loss be worse, you ask?

Simple. For most of the game Milliken appeared to be just toying with the Cougars.

For most of the game, the visitors maintained a 20-point lead. Eight different times, the Cougars tried to get the ball down and didn't get a shot at the basket. They trailed 38-20 at the half. Everything that could go wrong with the SIUE offense did.

Over that first stretch of 20 minutes, the Cougars shot a dismal 20 percent as they made good on only five of 25 attempts. At the same time, the Milliken shooters were hitting a blazing 50 percent.

Most alarming for the Cougars, however, and the fairly large crowd, was the foul situation for SIUE: three of the Cougar starters, Archie Tyson, Lamond Lampkins and Dave Gray, left the floor at the intermission with three fouls each.

In fact, if the Cougars had played the entire game at the pace they did from the point where a little over (5:10) remained on the clock, they would have beaten Milliken going away.

The Blue forces were on top 60-40 on a driving layup by Ken Jackson that made the score, a 20-point advantage.

Spencer honored at Monmouth

MONMOUTH — Karen Spencer of Granite City has earned a letter for volleyball at Monmouth College, coach Kathy Wagner has announced.

The Monmouth (Ill.) Scots finished the season with a 22-10 record and won the Midwest Conference meet for the second year.

The team will lose three seniors to graduation but coach Wagner says that she has depth on her bench and the team should be equally as competitive next year.

Karen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spencer, is a sophomore chemistry major.

Logsdon: The passing of a champion

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record
Monday, (Dec. 13) — William (Wild Bill) Logsdon was buried after funeral services at the Church of Christ Latter Day Saints, St. Louis.

The passing of Wild Bill, 76, saddened hundreds of thousands of pro wrestling fans here in the St. Louis area and throughout the United States and Canada.

A three-time pro wrestling champion, the former Oklahoma University collegiate champion, was one of two main types of wrestling champions: the Knight in Shining Armor, the eternally good guy, and secondly, the villain champion, the guy the fans came out to see to clean-cut youngster defeat. He was always the villain.

A native of Salt Lake City, Utah, Logsdon wrestled out of St. Louis for many years and made St. Louis his home.

As the villain, Logsdon gave the died-in-the-wool pro wrestling fans their money's worth. His bouts were always sold-out at Kiel. I first saw a title bout of his around 1948 when my assistant Star-Times sports editor, Ray J. Gillespie, wrote "beast" was pro wrestling, finally talked me and my wife, Joyce, into attending one of Wild Bill's numerous title defenses at Kiel.

I had been "down" on wrestling, the pro version, at least since the 1920's when I attended a World Championship bout between Strangler Lewis and a champion from Germany, around 1929. The bout was at the old Colosseum. Early on, Lewis applied a head lock on the champion. Three and a half hours later, Lewis still had that hold — hardly an exciting match. And it killed the sport of wrestling for me. Shortly, however, led by young football stars from collegiate ranks who entered wrestling, the sport enjoyed a surge in popularity following with a great deal of action and showmanship.

However, with the wild tactics and showmanship which followed, the sport was thought to be more show business than an athletic event. I confess that I was one of those who thought it (pro wrestling) was somehow twisted.

But, back to Wild Bill's title match at Kiel with Joyce and I seated at the ringside in the press row.

When Wild Bill's match started, the air of excitement was so thick one could literally feel it. I can't recall who the clean-cut youngster was who dared challenge the Champion. But, early on the gallant youngster threw everything at Wild Bill and the fans loved it.

As was his routine, three times, when apparently in trouble, Wild Bill would leap out of the ring down to the floor of the auditorium amongst the ring-side crowd, which was, most of the time, joyful against the Champion and made no bones about it.

On the third time, when Logsdon "escaped" over the ropes onto the floor, Wild Bill landed right in front of an elderly and well-dressed couple. It was his act to now like me, I give them, and put his tormentor away.

As Logsdon went through his routine and exchanged insults with the fans, the tie old woman reached over and took her husband's cigar from his hand. Without pausing, she jabbed the burning cigar butt into Logsdon's bare head and sweating leg about four inches above his knee. Joyce and I can still see the Champ's angry reaction. He turned wildly, and in the same motion, swung his arm toward his tormentor. Just in time, however, he saw that it was a Little Old Lady and managed, just barely, to stop his arm from totalling her.

In his dressing room after showering, I happened to be at the door and heard Logsdon talking to himself as he combed his hair and examined the burn spot on his skin caused by the cigar: "Man, I don't know what I have to do to get the fans to like me. I give them, always, a good boot." He didn't realize I was eavesdropping on him.

I don't think that he really every understood that he was the villain and not the hero. But, an outstanding champion.

DOWN MEMORY LANE — The Granite City high school athletic system has produced some outstanding catchers down through the years. In talks with former members of teams going back over 35 years, the Top Three have to be: "Jug" Harrison, Carl Linhart and a neighbor to the South (Madison), Jim Redman. His own personal vote would be Roger Belche, who caught on the first Southern Illinois U. at Edwardsville baseball team I covered. Roger probably had one of the most dramatic college baseball debuts of all time: the Cougars were playing the Green Wave of Tulane University in New Orleans in the first game of a twinbill. Behind the plate for Coach Roy Lee's SIUE team was Belche. In addition to playing flawless ball behind the plate, "Rippin' Roger" rapped out back-to-back foulballers in his second and third times at bat. Pitching for the Cougars was another Granite Cityan, Bruce Thompson ... my choice for the year's best right-handed hurler in SIUE history. And, just a shade behind Bruce was Don Rains, now executive director of the Y.M.C.A. in Jacksonville, Ill.

Down Memory Lane ... In the April 3, 1947 Press-Record: "Andy Phillip will start for the University of Illinois baseball against the Battling Bears of Washington U. in St. Louis. The story neglects to say in what position Phillip, the leader of the Warriors' Illinois state basketball tournament championship team in 1941 and a key member of the Illini's Fabulous White Kids, played at the time.

Down Memory Lane ... In the spring of 1951, the Granite City High World carried this item: "If you think you're seeing double when you look at the 1951-1952 wrestling champion, well, you're absolutely right and there are two of them: Bob Littlejohn and Tom Loyet. Bob is a two-year veteran of the prep wrestling wars, while this is the first year as a regular for Loyet as a regular. He replaced Jerry LeMaster, January 1951, as first man in the 120-pound class and went on to win second in the sectional. "Bob was undefeated in regular season matches this year, finally losing out in the second round of the State meet at Champaign. Along with his mat mastery, he may also be on the gridiron next fall calling signals for the Redmen. Most opposing athletes (will) probably wish he'd spend his time concentrating on his other sport, playing the guitar and singing. However, Tom does confine most of his athletic skills to the square circle as he was a Golden Gloves champion last year. "Although Bob will end his high school athletic career next January, both he and Loyet hope to lead the mat team to another great season."

Down Memory Lane ... The 1951 Granite City High School tennis team, led by Capt. Don Harmon (the younger brother of the current (1982) South High varsity cross country and tennis coach, Dick Harmon) at first singles, the slender Tom McRayen, second singles and Max Anderson, third singles, and doubles tandems of Howie Thies and Ron Branding and Bob Edmonds and Jim McElroy, is off to a great season (April 26, 1951) started with a 3-0 victory over Edwardsville and East St. Louis.

Down Memory Lane ... The Granite City High School (1951) track and field team will shape up like this: In the senior division Glenn Davis and George Moran will be the 100-yard dash; Davis and Captain Lynn Romann both will run in the 220-yard run and Davis in the quarter-mile event; Boyd Presley is the leading half miler and Capt. Romann is the first string miler. Among the timber toppers it'll be Charlie King and Jack Reese in the Highs and Don Hunt and King in the Lows. Bill Brockman and Dale Cook are the warriors' two best in the broadjump event, while Don Gelsinger and Cook are competent in the high jump. The squad's best pole vaulters are Gelsinger and Milton Jones, while Bill Barnhart and Howard Robertson are tops in the discus and Gerald Kalert and Robertson both are potential big winners in the shot-put.

Junior thinclads are: Rich Peterson, 50, 100 and 220 yard dashes; John Bryer, Bill Gaddo and Gary Froelander, the 440-yard dash; Jim Ballard, 800 yards, and Andy Gasparovic, the low hurdles.

Down Memory Lane ... With a final score of 22-17, the top "Slewing" sophomores defeated the low seniors in the championship game of the 1950-51 basketball championship at Granite City High. Shooting for the sophomores were Andy Stein, captain; Bev Conway and Matt Taylor, Nancy Fisher Shirley Duke and Shirley Lynn Romann guided the senior forwards, Jackie Williams, Ima Jean Bilbey and Anna Mae Stenberg, captain. Marcia Leuchter, Vernest Pierce and Pat Sken completed the senior guard. This scholastic game was the first of a series between the two top-ranking teams closed out another successful GAA basketball campaign.

SIUE's Flach, Seguso advance to ITCA finals

EDWARDSVILLE — In mathematics it's called simple addition. In athletics, when you combine dedication, talent, desire and success, you come up with championship awards.

For the tennis Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, who are no strangers to championship awards, having won the NCAA-II National Tournament each of the past five years, last weekend at the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Association (ITCA) Regional Singles at Ann Arbor, Mich., was no different.

Heading into the tournament with three seeded players, Ken Flach (1), Robert Seguso (2) and Doug Burke (7) in the 31-team event, the Cougars battled their way through the 102-member field to place three SIUE netmen in the semifinals.

Seguso, the runner-up in last year's NCAA-II Championships, paired off against teammate Doug Burke in one semifinal match, while two-time Gateshead for the March 20 at Ken Flach matched strokes with the University of Minnesota's Fredrik Pahl.

Seguso, who received an automatic berth into the ITCA doubles competition earlier this week when the Region selected the sophomore team from Sunrise, Fla. and Flach as the best doubles team in the region, advanced to the finals and earned a trip to the singles championship by defeating Burke, 6-4, 6-4. In the other semifinal match, Flach posted a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Pahl to set-up an all-SIUE final.

In the championship match, Flach demonstrated why he has claimed two national titles by defeating Seguso, 7-6 and 6-2. Flach and Seguso will now advance to the ITCA National competition Feb. 24 in Princeton, N.J.

will also be a 9,000-meter run for those in attendance who do not pass qualifying standards for the ITCA. All participants must be registered with TAC in 1983 and must have a valid 1983 TAC card. West St. Louis, Lebanon, Ill. or call (618) 537-6112.

For further information about the trials, or to apply as a contestant, interested persons may contact Bonnie Robertson, Front Runners Inc., 288 W. West St. Louis, Lebanon, Ill. or call (618) 537-6112.

Cougars host TAC cross-country trials

EDWARDSVILLE — A cast of the finest cross-country runners in the United States, including Craig Virgin, will be on hand Feb. 20 when Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville plays host to The Athletic Congress (TAC)/USA 1983 Cross Country Trials for both the national junior and senior teams.

The trials, sanctioned by the Ozark Association TAC and organized by Front Runners Inc. of Lebanon, will select the U.S. representatives in the upcoming IAAF World Cross Country Championships in Gateshead, England. The World-class distance runner and president of Front Runners Inc., Craig Virgin announced that the top six junior finishers and the top nine senior finishers will qualify for the U.S. team which will travel to World Championships, Virgin said. "This is the first time the Missouri-Illinois cross-country area has had a race of this caliber. The trials should be a battle between some of the top U.S. stars and a real treat to local runners and cross-country fans. The SIUE campus was selected not only because of its outstanding facilities but also because it provides a similar terrain to the type course used in European cross-country meets. And it will also be a part of SIUE's 25th Anniversary celebration. Virgin explained that the junior division course will be 9,000 meters, the senior division will run a 12,000-meter course. There will also be a 9,000-meter run for those in attendance who do not pass qualifying standards for the ITCA. All participants must be registered with TAC in 1983 and must have a valid 1983 TAC card. West St. Louis, Lebanon, Ill. or call (618) 537-6112.

For further information about the trials, or to apply as a contestant, interested persons may contact Bonnie Robertson, Front Runners Inc., 288 W. West St. Louis, Lebanon, Ill. or call (618) 537-6112.

Granite City Park District Information

Several vacancies in Geneva ski vacation

The Granite City Park District will sponsor the first of two ski trips on Jan. 14, 15, and 16, 1983 to Lake Geneva, Wis. The reason for the early announcement is that in the past, several people purchased reservations as Christmas presents.

The group will leave the Wilson Park Ice Rink at 8 a.m. on Friday, Jan. 14 and stay at the Hilton Inn of Lake Geneva that evening and Saturday evening. The hotel is located on Lake Geneva and offers a restaurant, lounge, whirlpool, sauna and indoor pool.

On Saturday the group will be based to the Maestri Ski Area on the South shore of Lake Geneva and spend the day on the slopes or at the lodge.

The bus will return to Wilson Park at approximately 6 p.m. on Sunday. Reservations will be taken until 5 p.m., Dec. 22, and the full cost of the trip must be made at registration. The cost of the trip includes transportation, two nights lodging, ski rental, lift tickets and ski lessons, if needed.

If there are four persons per room, the cost will be $74.50 per person; for three it will be $78.16 per person; two to a room will be $85.50 per person and a single room will be $107.50. Men's are not included in these prices.

For more information, call John Lakin at the Wilson Park Office, 877-3059.

Cardinals oppose bogus memorabilia

St. Louis Cardinal officials have asked baseball fans and others purchasing World Series memorabilia to beware of unlicensed, counterfeit merchandise which is being sold in the aftermath of the team's World Championship series.

"We've received a number of consumer complaints from individuals who feel they were sold substandard or shoddy merchandise by street vendors or other retail operators," said Marty Hendin, Cardinal director of promotions. "We want to emphasize that this kind of merchandise is not being sold by or for the St. Louis Cardinals."

Those selling unlicensed merchandise, in fact, are in violation of federal and state law," Hendin said that individuals purchasing World Series souvenirs or other

Cardinal merchandise should check the item for the official Major League Baseball license trademark — red, white and blue player silhouette with the imprint, "Official Licensed Major League Baseball."

"The baseball license trademark can serve as the purchaser's assurance that the item has met quality standards established by Major League Baseball and the St. Louis Cardinals," Hendin said.

In addition to such nationally-licensed merchandise, Hendin said, there are a variety of quality items licensed locally by special agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"These items include all Fredbird dolls, shirts, buttons and other merchandise, along with general Cardinal merchandise marketed locally by officially-licensed vendors such as National Pen Corp., Bro-World Products, Jean Rings and Sportprint," Hendin added.

The Granite City Park District will be offering a gymnastics class for anyone aged 12 and over on Wednesdays at the Harold Brown Recreation Center.

War I veteran policies paid up

The Veterans Administration has announced that beginning Jan. 1, 1983, U.S. Government Life Insurance policyholders will no longer be required to pay premiums for their coverage.

USGLI policies were issued generally to World War I veterans and are prefixed by the letter "K." The VA has determined that the current reserves held in the USGLI fund are adequate to meet future liabilities of the program.

Mortality rates for policyholders and interest earnings dictated that premiums are no longer necessary for the safety of the program. In fact, the amount paid annually in dividends has reached a level where it is nearly seven times the annual premium income.

Almost 58,000 USGLI policies have been paid-up, but there still remain 27,000 policies on a premium paying basis.

These policyholders will benefit considerably by eliminating the possibility that their insurance coverage will cease because of nonpayment of premiums, a spokesman said.

This change does not affect National Service Life Insurance policyholders. NSLI policy numbers are prefixed with "V," "H," "BS," "W," "J," "JR," "JS" and "RH." These policyholders will continue to pay premiums when due.

RETURN STOLEN VAN

Mark Yehling, 1706 Garfield Ave., reported last week that his van was stolen from outside his home and later was returned by the thief, who had wrecked the vehicle. The van was severely damaged on the right side, and tires on the same side were flat. The muffler was missing and the vehicle's wheels were ruined.

Included are (from the left, next to Peters) President Monty Doctor, retiring president Emil Crook and First Vice-President Cyril 'Pete' Korte.

Aerobic dance fitness classes

New sessions of Fitness Fantasia (aerobic dance) will begin Monday, Jan. 3, at the YMCA for eight weeks.

Classes will be offered on Monday and Wednesday evenings and on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Enrollment is limited and registration is taken on a first-come, first-served basis. The fee for annual YMCA members is $6; for non-members, the cost is $32 for the eight weeks.

Interested persons may register at the "Y" or by mail up to one week prior to the first class. Payment of fees must accompany each registration.

Fitness Fantasia is a way to "look and feel better." The aerobic classes teach correct exercise movements and how to "lose fat and firm up." Exercises are designed for special toning of the arms, hips, waist, thighs and stomach.

ARREST 2 MINORS

Two minors were arrested for possession of alcohol at 9:45 p.m. Friday after police observed them sitting inside a parked vehicle on East 25th Street. Robert S. Talbert, 18, of 2816 Edgewood Drive, and John T. Roberts, 17, of 3249 Wayne Ave., were charged and later released on $52 cash bond each. Police allegedly saw several beer cans on the roadway beneath the driver's door and two cans of beer were leaking onto the floorboard. Ten cans of beer allegedly were found in the cooler.

State monitors charity groups

For tax reasons, December gift-giving often extends past family and friends to include gifts to charitable organizations. Contributions made before Dec. 31 are deductible on 1982 tax forms for individuals who itemize deductions.

Unfortunately, warns the Illinois Bar Foundation, December is also the time some unscrupulous operators might take advantage of contributors' generous spirits by soliciting donations to fraudulent charities.

"Few people realize that Illinois law provides for charities to register with the Illinois attorney general's office," according to Maurice E. Bone, Belleville. Bone is the newly elected president of the Foundation, which is the charitable arm of the Illinois State Bar Association.

"Except for charitable activities of government and religious organizations and certain other exceptions, all charities that raise or spend more than $4,000 a year must register with the attorney general's office and be subject to review by that office," Bone said.

"If a person questions the honesty of a solicitor, the records are available for public inspection." Persons who act as professional solicitors and do not comply with the registration law can be fined up to $1,000 and imprisoned.

Anyone with questions about a solicitation for a charitable donation may call the Illinois attorney general's office, Charitable Trust Division to learn if the solicitor is required to register and if, in fact, the charity is registered. The phone number is (217) 782-1060 in Springfield.

"Americans contribute millions of dollars annually to many excellent charitable endeavors," Bone said. "But unfortunately, some contributions become misdirected into the hands of unscrupulous solicitors whose motivation is greed rather than charity."

AUTO BURGLARIZED

DUI charged in car-train mishap

Jerry W. Tracy, 24, of 2414 Edison Ave. was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol following an accident involving the engine of a Terminal Railroad Association train at the crossing on Edwardsville Road south of 20th Street at 3:05 a.m. Friday.

Tracy was injured and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated and released.

The motorist, traveling north, told officers he did not see warning lights flashing at the crossing until his auto had collided with the diesel engine.

Harry Moore of St. Louis, engineer, said he was operating the engine in reverse, with the bell sounding and the warning lights working. He alleged the motorist appeared to be trying to beat the train to the crossing when the vehicle started to skid and the impact occurred.

Tracy is to appear Jan. 21 on the DUI charge.

Crenna predicts a winner

By NANCY ANDERSON

Veteran performer Dick Crenna says he took a leading role in the new ABC series "It Takes Two," because he wanted to resume playing comedy.

Some viewers may wonder when he's going to start doing it, for in early episodes of his new ABC show the drollery has been more wished for than apparent, and reviews have been short of accolades.

In one segment, for example, Dick playing a house-bound doctor ran around for 30 minutes getting ground meat all over doorknobs and the telephone. A man behaving thus could scarcely have become a surgeon, much less get a laugh from a "M.A.S.H." fan.

Crenna admits this particular chapter of "It Takes Two" is his least favorite to date.

He also admits that he and his co-star, another well-seasoned, highly regarded performer, Patty Duke Astin, have "talked a little about scripts."

Yet he stoutly defends the series on most counts and predicts that it will be a winner.

"More typical shows are coming up," he promises. "The shows are getting better. We're already wiping 'Taxi' out, and I think we'll take 'Simon and Simon.'"

"It Takes Two" on ABC is slotted against "Taxi," so far a sore disappointment to NBC, and the last half of "Simon and Simon" on CBS.

"Taxi," an Emmy-winning critics' choice, was dropped last season by ABC which must take nasty pleasure in watching it lose viewers to Crenna's new series.

Though "Taxi" has been much-honored, Crenna isn't surprised to find "It Takes Two" with more viewers.

"Taxi" was never better than 35th when it was a hit," he points out. "I think it's an urban show. People in the Midwest don't know what it's talking about."

As for "Simon and Simon," Crenna says, "We are already beating them in Chicago. Last year it was so marginal, I didn't think it would be back. Then it got 'Magnum' as a lead in."

Crenna naturally wants his show to win its time period, but, being a pleasant man, he wished his competition well.

"It would be nice if ratings were divided so that every show could stay on," he maintains.

"There's somebody who likes every series."

Susan Winston, David Hartman's executive producer on "Good Morning, America," is also David Hartman's fan.

David didn't come to the news-oriented show from the Paris office of the Associated Press or from the White House press corps. He came, mostly, from the Universal Studios' back lot where he limned cowboys and a lawyer and other far-fetched, fictional characters.

Yet, despite his background, Winston argues that David has inbred qualities more valuable to a home-screen interviewer than years of experience on a news beat.

"In these troubled times, there's something reassuring about David," she says, "because he genuinely cares."

"When people are worried about so many things, they like to see someone who is so obviously sincere. 'David is Everyman. When he asks a question, it's because he wants to know the answer — care about the answer."

"People watch Walter Cronkite, because he's believable, and David is believable too. Anyone who has followed the industry knows that you can't fake it on television." If you're not sincere, the camera will find you out.

Also, Winston points out, David is extremely well educated having graduated from Duke University as an honor student with a degree in economics.

There's no debate on "Good Morning, America" as to who will interview whom, the executive/producer says.

"Though sometimes someone will say, 'Let me interview him, because I know him very well,' or, 'I shouldn't interview him, because I know him too well.'"

But, she insists, there's no competition for the choicer subjects.

Though people don't wonder why David Hartman, ex-series star, is hosting a news-related, non-dramatic show, some have wondered by what right Winston, a young-looking 30-year-old, decides what information and ideas shall be TV-fed into their homes each morning.

She admits that people ask, "What right do you have to determine what should be on the air?"

She has the right, she says, not only because she has the job but because she's a student of politics, history, television production and much more.

Winston's speaking of Hartman when she reflects, "Sometimes the profession chooses the person," but she could apply the thought to herself.

Nice show for family

By DON FREEMAN

If there is a surprise of major proportions in this budding new season of fantasy, gumshoes, Tom Selleck look-alikes and screeching tires, it lies in the steady rise of a show with a familiar title — "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers."

Now gracing CBS, the series is based loosely on the 1954 movie musical of the same title, which was set in frontier Montana. The television series, a brainchild of producer David Gerber (best known for such gritty pieces as "Police Story"), is strictly contemporary, a family drama touched with some music and some foot-stomping dances, and its locale is Northern California.

"All I wanted to do here," says Gerber, "was put together a nice, warm, little show that the family can watch and nobody will feel embarrassed."

But Gerber has achieved more than this minimal goal. If, as producer, he was hoping for the warmth amidst familial tensions that characterized, for example, "The Waltons," the series — as it has evolved — has attained another, more significant level.

There are some pretty fair values implied in "Seven Brides" as they were previously suggested in "The Waltons" — and without treacle or mawkishness and without losing any of its basic robust quality. I'll admit that this came as a surprise. The first episode seemed to me uneven and tentative, reminiscent of road-company "Oklahoma!" with cowboys throwing their Stetsons in the air and finishing a rousing song with a unison "Hoo-ray!"

With a cast of attractive but largely unknown people, the show has benefited greatly from excellent guest stars. In one yarn, for instance, Hoyt Axton, a western country singer and actor of imposing presence and talent, appeared as an old rodeo star teaching his craft at a rodeo school. He's a harsh taskmaster, a man hardened by circumstance.

One of the Seven Brothers wants to quit high school and go off on the rodeo circuit. That's one crisis. Another looms in the teeny relationship between Axton and the estranged teen-age daughter from a bygone marriage — and the daughter, independent and on her own, goes through some rough moments in learning rodeoing from her old man.

Both of the foregoing issues are resolved in ways which I think any parent would applaud — and with a dramatic intensity that any teen-ager would find absorbing. And affecting, too.

This is a series, in short, which has achieved the hallmark of "The Waltons" without everyone in the family saying their cheery goodnights as a trademark.

In another episode, a legend comes to the area — he is a country songwriter-singer (played with great believability by Levon Helm, once of The Band) who is an awful lush. One of the Seven Brothers, who idolizes the guy, helps straighten him out. The writing and the acting were particularly strong in this one, and there is a reality here, a hard texture, that was compelling.

"Seven Brides" is a rarity in another regard — it is filmed on location up in the Gold Rush territory. Home base is the old California mining town of Murphy — and the storied Murphys Hotel with his legendary Miners Bar — and the surrounding area pops up on the screen, historic places with names like Angel's Camp and Sonora and Harte Tarn.

Not since "Bonanza" has such grand western scenery hovered into view. There are some fine scenic wonders on display, many of them found in Calaveras Big Trees State Park. A lot of big trees around. And mountains and foothills.

After 25 years, Osmonds go country

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — Wayne Osmond can't remember whether there are 25 or 26 grandchildren within the enormous Osmond clan, but he's sure that he and three of his brothers (the original Osmond Brothers) are celebrating their 25th year in show business.

They couldn't be celebrating it in a nicer way, either, since they are enjoying the huge success of their first country album, "The Osmond Brothers," and the fact that Billboard saluted them as the best new country singles group of the year.

This honor was earned by the popularity of two singles from the album, "I Think About Your Lovin'" and "It's Like Falling In Love Over and Over," which pushed into the high 20s on the charts.

Various Osmonds, either as soloists or in combination, have earned 25 gold records. Further assorted Osmond recordings have sold more than 77 million worldwide. So it's a wonder that Alan, Wayne, Merrill and Jay, the first Osmonds to sing on discs, took a three-year rest from recording between 1979 and 1982.

Wayne explains that they were forced into hiatus by other responsibilities. The brothers were writing, producing and that sort of thing.

"We went through a phase," says Wayne, "but we sure wanted to sing harmonies again. Our first love has always been singing."

The boys began indulging in their first love as tykes singing for church and civic groups.

"We didn't push the children into show business."

claims Daddy George Osmond. "We followed them."

In any case, they were spotted by a Disney talent scout, Tommy Walker, who booked them at Disneyland where Andy Williams' father caught their act.

As a result, the little boys became regulars on Andy's NBC series.

Later, Donny, then 12 years old, joined his four siblings as one of The Osmond Brothers.

Then Donny, Marie and baby Jimmy established themselves as solo artists; while Jay, Alan, Wayne and Merrill became more involved with other aspects of show business.

Asked why he and his brothers chose country as genre for their first album in three years, Wayne says, "That wasn't a whim. Country is something we've wanted to do for a long time, because we like to harmonize, and country music lends itself so well to harmony."

The new Elektra-Curb LP was produced by Rick Hall who produced their original hits, but unlike some of their earlier efforts, it doesn't feature any of the brothers' own instrumental work.

Since the album's release, the Osmond Brothers have been playing concert dates well attended, Wayne says, by fans of years standing plus a new generation.

When the boys as teenagers used to appear in Las Vegas, the hotels at which they stayed and worked had to maintain extra security to keep down riots while protecting the young men from admirers.

The same admirers now turn out to hear the fellows sing, but their conduct is more restrained, and they bring their daughters to the concerts with them.

Donny, Marie and Jimmy have each taken a fling at acting, but Wayne says he and the brothers in the quartet haven't been tempted to do the same (though they've had their chances), because music is their major concern.

Marie, Wayne says, will probably be less involved in show business in the future, because she's married and expecting her first baby. But Jimmy's career is burgeoning.

"Jimmy is almost 20," says his proud brother, "and he's so popular in Japan that he's there four or five months of the year." Like Pat Boone's milk-drinking, white buck shoes and shiny-scrubbed image, the Osmond's stunning smiles and wholesome pronouncements have been subjects of jokes.

But Wayne says he and other members of the family don't mind the giggles.

"In the first place," he says, "we are normal people, no different from anybody else."

"We've never tried to change the Osmond image, because you are what you are, and if you try to be something else, you're a phony."

If I, personally, could have influence in just one area, it would be toward strengthening family ties.

The saddest letters we get are from young people whose parents are divorced.

Regardless of the importance of family ties, the brothers' revived popularity will probably keep them away from home a lot during the next several months.

"We want to spend about half the year on the road," says Alan. "I really feel like this is a new beginning for us."

'Ripley's' host working hard

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — JACK PALANCE has lived in Europe, and made films all over the world, but he never realized that hosting the ABC series "Ripley's Believe It Or Not" would take him to more places in four months than filming features had taken him in 25 years — and be more work.

"I'm delighted to be back in America," he said. "We were in Europe for four months. I enjoy doing this but the filming got a little long."

"We like to go to the scenes where the events occurred. We were based in Paris but ended up all over the continent. And it's hardly like being there as a tourist."

Jack has been involved with "Ripley's" for several years, first as host of the specials, now as host of the series. He's also had the chance to direct numerous segments which are being used for the show. And he's proud of what America is seeing.

"We've been faithful to the Ripley's that the country has grown up on," he explained. "Everything must be substantiated. And we have to have two or three substantiations. One newspaper isn't enough, even if it is The New York Times."

Some of the segments have been eerie even to the actor whose voice has made spines sit up and take notice. One sequence revealed that there are 5½ million skeletons in the catacombs under Paris, and the "Ripley's" cameras went under the streets to capture it all.

"It was an odd segment to do," Jack recalled. "You sometimes heard a crunch when you walked and realized that what you were stepping on was the remains of some person. There were hundreds of eyes looking at you. And I directed the sequence, too, so there was no getting around it."

Although "Ripley's" will probably go to the Far East to film additional segments, Jack finds himself settling back into a life in the United States that can hardly be called settled. He has a farm in Pennsylvania that is only 10 miles from the small farm on which he was born and raised. He also has a ranch near Bakersfield in California. And work takes him to Los Angeles and New York often.

"I've got a working ranch and a working farm, but I don't get to dirty my hands because I'm not around enough," he laughed. "I'm especially proud of my peacocks. They are beautiful birds, and we raise them."

"Basically, though, I don't like cities," he added. "Some of us who were born on farms always remain farmers. I don't even like Beverly Hills."

U.S. viewers may have a chance to see the 10-hour mini-series on composer RICHARD WAGNER that was made in Europe for TV there. Alan Landsburg Productions has the rights and the company is hoping to find an interested network.

RICHARD BURTON, RALPH RICHARDSON, VANESSA REDGRAVE and JOHN GIELGUD starred in the project, which reportedly cost $14 million.

Landsburg is also producing the upcoming "Jaws 3-D," which, as the title implies, will require special glasses in the theater for its full effect. The producers are saying the audience will "feel the breath of the shark in their faces" when it premieres next summer. BESS ARMSTRONG and LOU GOSSETT JR. are among the stars.

ROB REINER, of "All in the Family" fame, will return to NORMAN LEAR's banner to do a feature entitled "Spinal Tap." Reiner will star, produce and direct.

"Airplane II" opens this month, but Paramount is already planning an "Airplane III."

ALLEN FAWCETT, formerly of "The Edge of Night," and currently starring on Broadway in "Joseph and the Technicolor Dreamcoat," will host "American Rock," a syndicated series that debuts next year. It will pit three amateur bands being judged by celebrities from the music world.
